No indication has been given as to when actual induction of registrants will begin, but under terms of the law they cannot begin until September 22 or 30 days after the president signed the act into law.

BUSINESS IS GOOD

'Petticoat Revolt' Fails to Halt Sales Of Meat in Markets; Some Cheat

Business was good in Hamlin meat markets the first part of this week—in face of the "Petticoat Rebellion" of housewives who strated a meat-buyers strike.

A partial survey of meat markets by a Herald reporter elicited the information that sales were running about as usual and some markets reported that meat sales were up slightly from last week.

"It must have been the free advertising we got," one of the proprietors commented.

The rebellion began last week in Dallas and quickly spread to other parts of Texas and even to other states.

In Hamlin a group of housewives got together and after hurried consultation set themselves the task of calling every person listed in the telephone directory to request that women of the city go on strike against the buying of meats, beginning Monday, August 9.

However, several markets reported unusually brisk sales of meats over the week-end, immediately before the start of the "meat holiday."

One woman bought enough meat Saturday to stock her home freezer locker, a market proprietor reported. She told the proprietor, "I am fully in sympathy with the strike and I don't intend to buy a single pound of meat all next week. But I don't intend that my family shall go hungry, either," she continued, "so I am stocking up on enough to last through the entire week."

Meanwhile members of the committee in Hamlin who first advocated the strike here were insisting that if the housewives of the nation will only stick together for a few weeks in their refusal to purchase high priced meats, the prices will come tumbling down.

Dr. Hocott urged that people not give way to panic in face of the disease. He said the first record of polio was about 1600 B.C., and doctors have not yet learned how many types of the malady exist.

Burditt was looking forward with confidence to the season after he had surveyed the possibilities for the team.

Fire Department Open House Host

Visiting Fireman Guests at Opening

Hamlin's Volunteer Fire Department was host at a celebration and open house Thursday evening at the formal opening of the new fire station, when visiting firemen, and local townspeople were guests.

The celebration marked the move of the department into its first new home in more than 38 years, and a demonstration of the modern fire fighting equipment owned by the city provided entertainment for those attending.

Members of fire departments from Aspermont, Anson and Stamford attended the program and also took part in the demonstrations.

Charles Branscum, chairman of the progress committee, had general charge of the evening's events. Several short talks were made by city officials, fire department members and visitors.

A demonstration of the city's two pumper fire trucks held the close attention of visitors, who also were interested in a demonstration of the department's iron lung.

The lung, which is kept at Hamlin Memorial Hospital is for the use, without charge, of anyone who might need it. W. T. "Mickey" McGuire, fire chief said.

The Hamlin Volunteer Fire Department was organized in 1908 and has been active in protecting the city from fires for more than 40 years.

For more than 38 years the city's fire trucks were housed in a sheet iron building on a side street, which was abandoned this week as the trucks and equipment were moved into the modern new home.

Constructed at a cost of more than $11,000, the new fire station embodies all of the latest improvements for such buildings. Wide doors and ample room are provided in front for the trucks, and a recreation and meeting room is situated in the rear. A shower and clean-up room was installed on the first floor.

Above the truck room is sleeping quarters for any member of the department who is on duty at night. The department now has 27 members, all of whom are active and attend most of the weekly meetings.

The house, a four-room structure and all of Thompson's furniture were totally destroyed. No insurance was carried, McGuire said.

WINNERS OF DISTRICT TITLE

Mighty Mice Take Off for Houston; To Get Tournament Test on Friday

Hamlin's teen-age softball team, the Mighty Mice, left Thursday morning for Houston, where it will participate in the state tournament to be held at Heights Lions Field.

Winners of the district tourney, when they defeated Stamford 7 to 4 in a thriller last week-end, the Mighty Mice were anxious for the first test in the Texas tournament.

Not content with winning all games played against teams of their own age, the Mighty Mice Wednesday night matched their prowess against the Celotex men's team in a game at City Park, and defeated the adults 1 to 0.

The district champs were attempting to earn money for the trip to Houston, and played in the second half of a double-header game.

In the first game the Veterans of Foreign Wars, which sponsored the Mice, played the Rotary Club in a game of bicycle softball, unique in Hamlin.

Players were mounted on bikes and spills and thrills entertained the crowd. All proceeds from the double-header game went to defray expenses of the trip.

Joe King, manager of the Mighty Mice, and director of the VFW summer recreation program, accompanied the players to the tournament.

Team members who are making the trip are: L. Baume, J. Ford, Sugar Green, Joe Dean, D. Ford, Goodgame, Stapler, Butler, Rowland, L. Hartgraves, T. Hartgraves, R. Armstrong, Maberry, Couch and May.

Veterans Advised Check Provisions Of GI Insurance

Veterans Administration advised veterans to give their National Service Life Insurance policies periodic "three-way checks" to make certain that their NSLI programs are consistent with their plans, obligations and incomes.

The "three-way check" should cover: 1.—beneficiaries, both principle and contingent; 2.—manner in which proceeds are to be paid to beneficiaries; and 3.—amount and type of NSLI in force.

Many veterans fail to name new beneficiaries when they marry or when a designated beneficiary dies VA said.

If a veteran dies without naming a beneficiary, or if no designated beneficiary is alive at the time of his death, proceeds of the insurance go into his estate and are subject to inheritance taxes. Final distribution of the proceeds may not be that which the veteran would have desired.

Changes in family status or family income often require a veteran to change the method of NSLI settlement. He may elect to have his NSLI proceeds paid to his beneficiary in a lump sum or in equal monthly installments ranging from 36 to lifetime income.

The type and amount of NSLI owned by a veteran should be that which best fits his pocketbook and gives him the most coverage, VA said. NSLI policies include term, ordinary life, 30-payment life, 20-payment life, endowment at age of 60, endowment at age of 65 and 20-year endowment.

Position on Faculty Of City Schools Open

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Congress Fights Truman Proposals; High Crop Goals Set, Wheat Cut; Atomic Tests Assure New Power

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

CONGRESS:

Feudin' and Fightin'

Bitter recriminations resounded as the fight between President Truman and the GOP-controlled congress moved into a new round with convening of the extra session of the 80th congress.

In a dynamite-laden atmosphere, the President appeared before a joint session of the congress which he had labeled "one of the worst in history" to demand a sweeping anti-inflation economic program. The reception for both the President and his program was cool as Republicans launched their wrecking-crew tactics.

Defiant GOP leaders charged Mr. Truman with playing politics and prepared to play politics of their own. The net result, it appeared, would be a short special session.

Initial step in the GOP's program of obstruction was a decision that the extra session should consider only those recommendations made by Mr. Truman which could "pass a test." This test, established by the majority conference, set the qualifications for congressional action as follows:

Proposed legislation must be emergency in character.

It must contain a problem of national importance.

It must be a program which can be processed properly within the time available to an emergency session.

This available time for processing would be no longer than a period of congress which would not "interfere with the proper conduct" of the autumn campaigns.

No appropriation bills were to be considered, nor would any consideration be given to confirmation of nominations which might be sent to the senate by the President.

Over all hung the threat of a Dixie Democrats' filibuster against the anti-poll tax bill, which would widen the rift between Mr. Truman and the southern wing of his party.

There were no surprises in the President's recommended legislative package. He proposed a re-imposition of the excess profits tax, limited restoration of price controls, even more limited wage controls and enactment of the Taft-Ellender-Wagner housing bill.

WHEAT:

Goal Cut

As clogged elevators and enforced embargoes once again mark the nation's harvest of another bumper wheat crop, the department of agriculture recommends a cut of 8 per cent in wheat acreage in its preliminary recommendations for the 1949 crop year.

Although continued high production of other major grain commodities is recommended, a slight decrease is suggested for wheat acreage, which has increased sharply in recent years in response to war and relief needs.

Looking forward in a move to conserve the country's soil resources, the department points out that "a better balance between soil-conserving and soil-depleting crops will actually assure higher productivity over a longer period of years."

Farmers also are urged to provide for sufficient summer fallow and, in marginal areas, to plant grass seed on land which is not suitable for sustained production of crops.

Also considered in arriving at the wheat goal were this year's increased carry-over, prospects that the 1948 crop will be second largest in history and possibility of smaller demand because of improved crops in importing countries.

The department recommended wheat plantings for 1949 of 71.5 million acres which, with an average yield of 15 bushels an acre, would mean production of nearly 1.1 billion bushels. July estimate of 1948 wheat production was 1,241,751,000 bushels.

In setting another farm goal, the department recommended a beef cattle breeding herd of 15.5 million cows next January 1, a decrease of about 500,000 head. Better management, improved feeding practices and thorough culling, it was suggested, will "put the cattle industry in better position to supply the meat requirements of the increased population."

The recommendations are submitted to state agricultural councils for consideration. State goals and final national goals are determined on the basis of state review and recommendations.

PRECARIOUS PERCH

Americans Seek Economic Security

Increasingly aware of the need for economic security for themselves and their families, Americans will expend approximately 15 billion dollars for that purpose in 1948, the Research Council for Economic Security estimates.

The estimate covers payments made under private or government organized plans to meet in-

Hands in Pockets

Face to face with the congress he had labeled "worst, save one," in history, President Truman was greeted by one of the coolest congressional receptions ever accorded a chief executive when he appeared before the special session. Only polite applause came occasionally from the galleries and from administration followers; Republicans kept their hands in their pockets.

A-BOMBS:

New Force

The veil of secrecy which has shrouded most of the post-war atomic energy experiments was lifted, a tiny bit at least, for the American public in the fourth semi-annual report of the atomic energy commission and an accompanying statement by President Truman.

Justifying the secrecy, the President contended that until controls are established on the international level to prevent use of atomic energy for military purposes "we cannot, as a nation, afford to disclose these secrets which make this new force the most deadly form of military weapon." With that statement, the American people, anxiously eyeing war clouds on the horizon, are inclined to agree.

Some measure of reassurance was contained in both reports, stressing the fact that the nation has gained new power in atomic weapons. Both disclosed that the secret tests of new type bombs at the proving grounds on Eniwetok island early this year were highly successful.

The commission's report, the fourth semi-annual summary to congress as provided by law, indicated there were three bombs used at Eniwetok in the spring project known as "Operation Sandstone." Principal study was "on the generation of nuclear explosion itself" rather than "on the effects of the nuclear explosion," as was the case in the earlier Bikini tests.

The report stressed developments of atomic energy research in medicine, agriculture, metallurgy, other sciences and industry. Radioactive materials have been given 229 institutions and commercial agencies for experimentation.

LIVING COSTS:

Hit Peak

They changed the name—from cost of living index to consumers price index—but they still can't change the trend—upward and ever upward.

In fact, the index struck an all-time high on June 15, with food prices reaching record-shattered levels, the bureau of labor statistics reports.

The index, which represents retail prices of goods and services bought by moderate income families in large cities, registered 171.7 per cent of the 1935-39 average.

Further increases are inevitable, too, for wholesale prices hit an all-time high during the week ended July 17 and it takes about a month for their impact to be recorded in retail prices.

The new consumers price index is 9.3 per cent higher than a year ago; 28.8 per cent above June, 1946, when price controls generally were abandoned, and 74.1 per cent above the August, 1939, level. On V-J Day in 1945 the same index was 129.3 per cent of the 1935-39 average.

DRAFTEES:

Old Pals

In an endeavor to make the upcoming draftee as happy as a khaki-colored lark, the army is removing its "petty annoyances" as it completes plans to process men inducted under the first peacetime draft in history.

On orders of Gen. Omar Bradley, chief of staff, to remove "the petty annoyances that sent many World War II veterans away hating the army," training officers prepared to greet the recruit like an old friend of the family.

Only the finest officers and non-coms will handle the draftee, training officers promised. The recruit will even be given a $5 advance on his $75 a month pay the first day in camp so he won't be broke. He won't even have to wait to "tell it to the chaplain," as he'll be taken to the chaplain during his orientation days and urged "to let his hair down."

All of this will take place at eight major training centers which have been set up to receive the draftees and give them their basic training. They are Fort Knox and Camp Breckenridge, Ky.; Fort Riley, Kans.; Camp Chaffee, Ark.; Camp Pickett, Va.; Fort Ord, Calif.; Fort Jackson, S. C., and Fort Dix, N. J.

The standard 13-week army training course has been condensed into eight "tough" weeks. Later draftees will be selected for specialist training or sent directly to duty. About half of the draftees will see overseas duty, probably in Korea, Japan, Germany, Alaska, the Canal Zone, Hawaii or Caribbean defense area.

It Might Have Been

Had there been no World War II, no abdication of the late King Victor Emmanuel and no dissolution of the House of Savoy by vote (taking the crown away from ex-King Humbert), then Victor Emmanuel, pictured here, third of the line, might have been fated one day to sit on the throne of Italy. Seemingly the least unhappy about the turn of affairs is handsome, blond Victor Emmanuel, now at Geneva, Switzerland.

GERMANY:

Explosive

Germany remained an explosive issue in the strife-torn international picture.

As the titanic East-West struggle for Berlin continues, reports were current that four-power talks would be resumed in an attempt to settle the crisis there as well as to scan the entire European situation. The rumors circulated after top diplomats of the U. S., Britain and France were closeted in a series of conferences.

In the biggest air lift in history, U. S. and British planes continued to transport food and fuel to the beleaguered city. The big planes averaged 4,500 tons of essential goods daily in their effort to break the Russian blockade.

Violence broke out in the Russian sector of the capital city as thousands of Germans jammed banks to exchange their money for new Soviet-sponsored currency.

Although she looks like a prim schoolmarm, Berlin's woman mayor, Socialist Louise Schroeder, courageously defied Russia's order to dismiss the anti-Communist deputy police chief.

Headliners

IN ANNAPOLIS . . . An 18-year-old plebe at the U. S. naval academy shouldered a heavy burden when he took his oath. The plebe is John Paul Jones of Piqua, Ohio, no descendant of his famous namesake.

IN FORT WAYNE . . . Joseph Neal, 48, survived by a nose when he was buried for 20 minutes in a collapse of a sewer trench. A fellow worker tore away some of the dirt to expose the tip of Neal's nose. Later, firemen and police dug the rest of him out.

IN SALLISAW, OKLA. . . E. W. Floyd, 40-year-old grocery clerk and brother of the onetime Public Enemy No. 1, Charles (Pretty Boy) Floyd, was elected sheriff in a bitterly-fought contest.

IN CHARLESTOWN . . . Farmer Eben Trussell drove his new car home, parked it in the barn lot. There a bull calf saw his reflection in the windshield, took a running leap, crashed through the glass and bounced back on the hood. A veterinarian stitched the bull together and a mechanic did the same for the car.

Calling the Cards

Apologists for the 80th congress, including Herbert Brownell Jr., Governor Dewey's campaign manager, are attempting to sneak behind a tree by saying the Republican leadership of this congress, in special session or otherwise, is in no way bound by the pledges of the Republican platform adopted at Philadelphia a few short weeks ago.

This 1948 Republican platform, they say, was adopted for the 81st congress, not the 80th, and therefore the GOP leadership is not bound by its pledges. All of which, of course, is a vague evasive technicality, since leadership in the 81st congress will be virtually the same as the 80th congress unless there is a Democratic landslide come November.

Senator Taft, senate majority leader; Senator Wherry, senate whip; Speaker Joe Martin in the house; Majority Leader Charlie Halleck and Congressmen Knutson, Taber and Allen—all will be in their places in the 81st congress.

So if they are not morally bound by the 1948 platform pledges four weeks after the platform was adopted, there is certainly no reason to believe they will be bound by those same pledges six months from now.

Charges by the GOP leadership that the call for the special session is "pure politics" on the part of President Truman and the attempts to evade the issues on needed legislation are, in the opinion of this reporter, slightly ridiculous when it is remembered that prior to adjournment both Senator Taft and Speaker Martin spoke of the possibility of reconvening congress to "finish their job" after the conventions were over.

For example, in 1937, the Crossett Lumber company gave the government 1,680 acres of typical second growth stands in southeastern Arkansas. I can't go into the program of experimental work that has been done there, but there is one item that affects our story.

R. R. Reynolds of the forestry service went to work on 40 acres of this area. He did the things any farmer can learn to do to a similar woodlot.

Last year Reynolds reported eight annual cuts which averaged a marketable value of more than $580 a year, and he had as much volume as when he started!

Of course, everybody hasn't Reynolds' know-how, but the government is helping to spread that know-how through its representatives or through state organizations. So is private enterprise.

Florida Teaches Youth Forestry Fundamentals

Thirteen years ago, Florida for example, began a forestry training camp for her Future Farmers of America members. On August 1 of this year, some 200 members of the FFA attended a two week camp at Camp O'Leno, about 60 miles west of Jacksonville, where they were taught, in the forest, the fundamentals of good forest practices.

The first week was for beginners who had had no previous forestry background; the second week was for those who had attended a previous camp.

During the first period they were taught fundamentals of gum farming—how to secure naval stores such as turpentine and rosin from slash and long-leaf pines; how to identify the commercially valuable trees and their use; how to farm forests as they farm cotton and other crops; how to protect their woodlots from fire; how to thin their stands of trees by cutting out the crooked, diseased, and other

Now he has Governor Thurmond and his rebel southerners against him. But southern Democrats in house and senate have not been helpful to the Truman program. As a matter of fact they helped the Republicans override Mr. Truman's vetoes and some of them voted with the Republicans as often as with the Democratic minority. So the President stands to lose nothing there.

As we have pointed out in this column before, in the last half-century, except in 1916, when the Democratic party has won an election its electoral vote has been big enough to win without the Solid South. And when the Republicans have won, defection of the South would have made no difference.

On top of this, if the southern revolt holds out to election day it will be the first time Democrats in the South have had a choice between two candidates, and this reporter is not at all sure but that President Truman will capture a majority of these southern states despite the rebellious leaders.

Effective Control

Just by way of contrast, Canada has a peace-time price control law and an effective rent control law. So Canadian housewives pay only around 53 cents a pound for sirloin steak, 14 cents a quart for milk, 70 cents a pound for butter and 29 cents a pound for hamburger, or about 25 per cent less than American housewives pay.

Canada has a gradual and planned policy of price adjustment and de-

Small Woodlots Hold Key To Future Timber Supply

By BAUKHAGE

News Analyst and Commentator.

WASHINGTON.—I have just had an interesting conversation with R. E. McArdle of the forest service of the department of agriculture, and I have discovered that I'm one of the people that the United States of America has to look to for its future lumber supply.

My father took up some of the last of the government forest land that was available in the Southwest. That little plot, along with the other privately-owned timberland straggling over the map of the U. S., makes up three-quarters of all the timber there is in the country. Only one-fourth of our forests are public property.

And three-fourths of this three-fourths is composed of small wood-

lots which average 60 to 70 acres. Furthermore much of it is not part of a farm being worked by an experienced farmer. A great deal is owned by people who don't live on the wood lot or near it (like me), and many of whom (also like me) wouldn't be able to tell a toothpick from a telephone pole if it weren't for their size.

Worse still, many farmers owning woodlots with valuable stands of timber on them don't know how to get their money's worth from that land or how to keep the wooded acres contributing to their livelihood as the rest of their farmland does. In other words, growing timber in this country has become to a large extent a side issue.

I am glad to report, after telling you all this bad news, that both the government and the lumber industry are trying to do something about this situation for the general, as well as for the individual, good.

For example, in 1937, the Crossett Lumber company gave the government 1,680 acres of typical second growth stands in southeastern Arkansas. I can't go into the program of experimental work that has been done there, but there is one item that affects our story.

R. R. Reynolds of the forestry service went to work on 40 acres of this area. He did the things any farmer can learn to do to a similar woodlot.

Last year Reynolds reported eight annual cuts which averaged a marketable value of more than $580 a year, and he had as much volume as when he started!

Of course, everybody hasn't Reynolds' know-how, but the government is helping to spread that know-how through its representatives or through state organizations. So is private enterprise.

Florida teaches the fundamentals of good forestry to FFA youth at annual summer camps. Trammel Green, nurseryman for the Florida forest service, is shown here instructing two boys in preparation of a seed bed. Here they are spreading pine straw over the freshly planted seed as a protective measure.

THE IMPENDING BATTLE

The popcorn, peanuts and lemonade carnivals, called party conventions, have folded and the road companies now are assembling. It is Truman and Barkley in "A Trailer Named Desire" versus Dewey and Warren in "Make Mine Pennsylvania Avenue."

The critics hold that in order to win the Democrats will have to get Oscar Hammerstein to rewrite the script and add numbers by Berlin and Rogers.

They say the show should be called, "Life Without Father," or "Franklin in the Wings."

They contend that the Dewey production has everything Ringling Brothers have except the Night Before Christmas pageant and Gargantua, and that put up against the Democratic offering it is like "Oklahama" versus the flea circus. But strange things happen in the world of politics and entertainment. The old saying, "Never count the gross receipts before you read the morning-after reviews," still is good advice.

Many a show has clicked despite bad preview notices and many an entertainment that was called sure fire on the road flopped in the ultimate test. The one big advantage the Dewey-Warren production has is that no show ever has run 16 years without boring the cash customers.

This department doesn't think the Democrats could win this time if they added the original cast of "Harvey," gave away free dishes and admitted women and children free. But there's no business as uncertain as show business except election business, and you never can tell.

Harry Truman emerged from the Democratic convention as the most dignified, gamest and most appealing figure, thanks to the quaint conduct of the opposition. He won sympathy just as a theater straw wins it when the rest of the cast tries to give him the works and even the stagehands drop sand bags from the flies. You can't dislike him any more than you could dislike Denman Thompson in "The Old Homestead."

He was called on four years ago to step into a leading part played to the hilt for 12 years by one of the greatest matinee idols, all around showmen and top scene-stealers of all time. Could Citation have succeeded the leading man in "Three Men on a Horse?" We ask you!

Harry was the pitcher called in when the bases were full, the fighter sent in for the emergency bout and the pianist called to substitute for the Toscanini orchestra. He never knew whether he was acting as a president or being used as a floating target.

And on top of all that, the law of averages, the turn of the wheel, the theory of cycles and the human desire for a change in billing all worked against him. Even people who had been for tarring and feathering all Republicans for years began wanting to trade in the old model for something new.

The Republicans, farther north for 16 years than Peary or Cook ever got, suddenly found the ice thawing on the wings. And now there is every indication that they can safely discard their snowsuits, throw away their pemmican supplies and reach for a White House instead of an . . .

He says it was nothing for him to lose $6,000 a week on the horses. We assume his chuck horses included Frisk, Cheek, Going Away, Me Always, The Pincher, Speedy Bozo, Fashion Plate and Easy Go. Obviously he was one of those bankers who worked like a horse.

Eighteen Deaths in State From Fire During June; Commissioner Urges Care

Eighteen Texans were burned to death in June, Marvin Hall, the state fire insurance commissioner, reported this week.

Ten of the 18 were men, five were children, and three were women.

Explosions and the resulting young man, 18, died of burns when fires, killed five persons, and one an oil tank he was working on exploded. One 31-year-old man died of burns received in a flash fire at an oil derrick.

Gas explosions in two homes resulted in the deaths of two women. One explosion was of butane and one of natural gas.

A young mother was burned to death when she poured kerosene into a wood stove. The kerosene ignited from live coals and an explosion covered her body with flames.

A hotel fire the cause of which is unknown caused the deaths of four men.

Fire caused from gasoline being accidentally ignited caused the deaths of three children during the month. The clothes of one little three-year-old girl ignited while she and her brother were playing with gasoline. A boy, seven, died of burns received when a glass jar containing gasoline exploded while a group of children were playing with it. A 17-month-old girl died of burns when her clothes caught fire from an exploding can of gasoline being used to burn out an ant bed.

Two small children died of scalds received when they pulled boiling coffee off stoves onto themselves.

Two young men burned to death when their airplane caught fire after failing to make a take-off, and a man, 67, burned to death in a house fire which started from careless smoking. Another man died of burns received on a fishing trip when his bedding ignited from a camp fire.

Hall urged greater care in dealing with fire, and suggested that parents keep explosive materials out of the reach of children.

Stamford Funeral Held for Father Of Dr. Don Gould

Final rites for Dr. Q. D. Gould of Stamford were conducted in the Stamford Central Christian Church Monday afternoon, with Rev. Clifford B. Thomas, pastor, and Rev. Ben Parker of San Antonio, a former pastor, in charge.

Dr. Gould, the father of Dr. Q. Don Gould of Hamlin, died in his home last Saturday.

Well known throughout Jones County as the operator of the Gould Chiropractic Clinic, Dr. Gould had been practicing his profession there for 26 years.

Born at Waxahachie, February 22, 1883, he attended the Texas Chiropractic College and graduated there in 1922. He married Brulah Elliott, April 28, 1916.

In addition to his widow in Stamford and his son in Hamlin, Dr. Gould is survived by a daughter, Mrs. L. D. Lyle of Wichita Falls; his mother, Mrs. J. H. Gould of Mineral Wells; and seven sisters: Mrs. A. M. Adair of Breckenridge, Mrs. W. M. Adair of Italy, Mrs. W. H. Hughes and Ruby Gould of Mineral Wells; Mrs. L. S. Furr of Stamford; Mrs. W. J. Van Bibber of Ranger and Mrs. Oliver Crump of Corpus Christi.

Cotton Crop Estimate Is Up; Price to Hold

In spite of an estimated large 1948, officials of the United States increase in cotton production for Department of Agriculture expect the price to remain near the present high level, it was announced this week.

Favorable weather and increased acreage in the cotton belt have caused government crop statistics to revise their earlier estimates sharply upward.

However, it was pointed out because of world conditions and the drastic need for cotton, the price is expected to remain high during the season.

Farmers Urged to Get Legume Seed Before September

Farmers of west Jones County were urged this week to secure legume seed for fall planting as early as possible.

Hairy vetch seed is expected to be short this fall because of the extreme drought of last year, and this will probably result in higher prices, especially for those who wait until planting time to make their purchases.

Farm experts recommend that seed be bought early in order that farmers will have it on hand when the first good fall rains come in September.

Winter legumes, it was pointed out, will prevent wind erosion on sandy or mixed land subject to blowing. Hairy vetch or peas should be planted in the cotton rows not later than October. This need not interfere with the cotton yield if planted correctly.

Experiments have shown that a rotation of legumes, maize and cotton will pay dividends to farmers. It is recommended that super phosphate be applied to the soil at the time of planting hairy vetch.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Williams and sons, Donley and Jackie, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Williams and sons, Larry and Larry, have returned from a trip through New Mexico, Colorado, Kansas and Oklahoma.

Texas Farm Income 1948 Shows Big Dip

Cash farm income from the sale Texas farm products for the first six months of 1948 dropped more than $40,000,000 from the income for the first six months of 1947.

Figures on the income of farms were released this week by the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. The report revealed total cash income of $570,845,000 for the first half of 1947, and $530,182,000, for the first half of 1948.

What Will It Profit?

And if the meat strike proves effective, what then?

Reports from several of the meat markets in Hamlin have indicated that the strike is having little, if any, effect on sales of meat products here. However, if the meat boycott should result in the complete stoppage of all commerce in meats within our city, what effect would it have on the economy of our community as a whole? How would it affect the general price pattern of other commodities?

West Texas is a meat producing area. A large part of the economy of this entire district depends upon the price paid or livestock. And in recent months cattle raisers have received all-time record high prices for their cattle and hogs and sheep. Is it possible to create a lower price for processed meats without disturbing the record prices paid for meat animals on the hoof?

Then, too, not only have meat prices soared, but all other prices, including wages, have risen sharply during the scant three years since cessation of hostilities. If we organize an attack only upon meat prices, what of the inflated condition of the prices of numerous other commodities?

There can be no argument at all that meat prices are far too high. Nor can there be any argument that the danger point has long since been approached in our postwar inflation. There must be a stopping point somewhere if our democratic system of free enterprise is to survive.

But whether a "meat strike" is the proper approach to the vexing problem is the question—and a debatable one. If the stoppage of meat sales could bring lower prices without causing stockmen to take losses on cattle that have been raised on high priced feed, then by all means let's stop buying meat. But if this method will serve only to cause an economic injustice to the men who have helped to build our community, then perhaps some other plan needs to be tried.

However, regardless of the method used, some system must be worked out for an equitable adjustment of prices, and the zeal exhibited by the women who have inaugurated the present attempt is worthy of commendation. If at first they don't succeed, they'll try, try again.

But what will it profit our community if retail prices are forced down and livestock prices come tumbling after?

Advertising Hamlin

Excellent builders of good will for Hamlin, the Mighty Mice, teen-age softball players, are on their way to Houston where they will be pitted against teen-age players from other sections of the state for the Texas softball championship.

The program sponsored by the Hamlin Veterans of Foreign Wars, which produced this mighty aggregation of young sportsmen is a wholesome thing for Hamlin. It provided an outlet for the pent-up energies of teen-age boys during the dull summer months, and it developed them physically and socially. Most of the boys who have participated will learn better sportsmanship and consequently better citizenship.

And not only will the program prove beneficial to the young men who have taken part in its summer schedule, but the entire town will benefit by their prowess on the playing field.

The Mighty Mice are proving mighty emissaries of good will by carrying the name of Hamlin to all parts of Texas. More power to them.

Now Is The Time

No better time will ever present itself for residents of Hamlin to urge upon our congressman the need for a post office building here.

A town that has almost doubled in population in the past eight years should be entitled to better housing for its postal service, and a town of the size to which ours has grown certainly should be in line for this vastly needed improvement.

Now is the time to drop a letter to our representative in congress and ask him how about it. Perhaps in the rush of world-important political matters he has not given it much thought. A few letters would serve to remind him that in spite of Russia and the Iron Curtain we people in Hamlin are still doing business at the same old stand and we'd like a new one.

THE FICTION CORNER

AND AN ELEPHANT

By WILLIAM CUTHBERT

U. H. UH, Daddy could see it coming again! He had just settled down to read the evening paper when Barbara climbed on one knee, and George Henry took possession of the other.

He let the newspaper drop to the floor. He couldn't read with a pair of heads in front of his eyes.

"How old am I, Daddy?" Barbara asked.

"This was better than Daddy had hoped for. He was expecting something else. 'You'll be three next month,' he told her.

He thought that if he used a little child psychology he could keep the children's thoughts on their ages and birthday parties, instead of having them think of other things. "You're five, George Henry," he said, "you'll soon be going to school."

George Henry said bluntly, "tell us a story."

Here it was, that other thing that he could see coming. "Not now," Daddy groaned, "I don't feel like telling a story."

"The three bears, heh, George Henry?" Barbara chimed in.

They settled back expectantly in Daddy's arms. Their flannel pajamas were soft and warm as his arms embraced them.

"Once upon a time there were three bears," Barbara prompted.

What could Daddy do? He shrugged his shoulders helplessly. "The three bears lived in a cabin at the edge of a woods."

"No Goldilocks," George Henry said, "tell us about the three bears and an elephant."

"An elephant?" Daddy didn't feel like plotting a new story. "It will have to be Goldilocks," he said.

Barbara clapped her little chubby hands. "Goody," she cried, "what does the elephant do in the story, Daddy?"

"But I don't know any elephant story."

"Remember the one you read out of the book that you wrote?" This was George Henry trying to refresh his Daddy's memory.

Daddy tried to think over the juvenile stories that he had written and had published. He couldn't place an elephant story that had anything to do with three bears.

"No Daddy, it wasn't in the book," George Henry suddenly remembered, "you just told it to us."

The easiest thing to do, Daddy decided, was to make up a story, then rush the children off to bed.

"During the day," he continued, "the sun shone bright on the cabin and kept the three bears warm."

"What was the bears' names?" Barbara wanted to know.

There could be no question about the names. Whether it was bears, pigs, ducks or rabbits, the names had to be the same.

"One bear's name was Barbara, another George Henry, and the third, Sally."

Sally was the children's eight-year-old sister. She had just started to take violin lessons, and Daddy could hear her in her bedroom trying to squeak some notes out of the G string.

"As I was saying, the bears were kept warm in the daytime by the hot sun. But at night when the sun went to sleep, it got very cold, and the bears had to keep a fire in the hearth of the open fire place."

The telephone bell rang, and as the children's mother came from the kitchen to answer it, Daddy remained silent. This was a rule in the home. No one talked while someone else was speaking on the telephone.

The children hugged against Daddy. He thought they might go to sleep.

Their mother talked for several minutes. Daddy gathered from the things she said that she was giving Mrs. Piper, a neighbor who lived up the street, a recipe for cheese pie.

When his wife went back to the kitchen, Daddy looked at the children. Their eyes were closed. Ah, no more story telling tonight, he thought.

George Henry opened sleepy eyes. "So the three bears had to keep a fire at night—"

Daddy began to talk softly, soothingly. This would put the children sound to sleep. "The bears had to bled. She looked like she might cry.

"The next day," Daddy said hurriedly, "the bears decided that they just had to have wood, so they went back among the trees. After they made sure that no other animal was in sight, Sally bear picked up the axe and began to chop—chop—chop."

"Please Daddy, tell us about the elephant," George Henry held his hand against his mouth to hold back a yawn.

"But before long, the thumping noise again rang out in the woods. Thump—thump—thump. The bears were too frightened to run this time, and suddenly a big animal stuck its head and long trunk between two trees and glanced bewildered at the three shivering bears."

Barbara clapped her hands. "The elephant!" she cried.

"Let it be a good elephant, heh Daddy?" George Henry said.

"All right, it was a good elephant, and it asked the bears why they were frightened? None of the have wood for their fire, so every day they went into the woods to chop down a tree."

"Louder, Daddy," Barbara told him, "I can hardly hear you."

George Henry giggled a bit and asked, "Where's the elephant?"

"The elephant?" Daddy had forgotten there was supposed to be an elephant. "The elephant, uh, we'll get to him . . . the bears had to go to the woods for fire wood. One day Sally bear was chopping down a tree. It was a big tree, for most of the small trees had already been burned, and she became tired.

George Henry bear took the axe and began to chop—chop—chop."

"What about the elephant, Daddy?" It was Barbara this time.

"Suddenly the bears heard another sound in the woods. George Henry bear stopped chopping to listen. Thump—thump—thump! All three bears were startled. They never heard this noise before."

Barbara smiled, "Here comes the elephant."

Daddy ignored the interruption. "George Henry bear dropped the axe and the three bears ran as fast as they could back to their cabin, and they locked themselves in."

George Henry sat up straight, all sleep disappearing from his bright blue eyes. "Did the elephant chase them, Daddy?" he asked.

Daddy sighed deeply and said sternly, "Will you two settle down and allow me to tell the story?"

Meekly, George Henry settled back in Daddy's arm.

"That night it was very cold and the bears had no wood to burn. They huddled near the damp fire place and almost froze."

"The poor bears," Barbara mumbled.

bears dared to speak, so the elephant looked around and saw that they had been chopping at the tree."

"So the elephant chopped the tree down for them," George Henry volunteered.

Daddy smiled. This would be better than bringing in a lot of complications and would get the children to bed in a hurry.

"Yes, the elephant took the axe in his trunk and chopped the tree into small pieces. The bears then saw that the elephant was a friend, so each gathered an arm load of wood, while the elephant took a big load in his trunk, and they all went back to the cabin."

"Is that all, Daddy?" Barbara wanted to know.

"Not quite. The elephant was so big that it couldn't go through the door of the cabin, and when night came, it had to stay out in the cold, while the bears kept warm near the fire."

GEORGE HENRY could hardly keep his eyes open but he said, "Let the good elephant go inside near the fire, Daddy."

Daddy thought for a moment. How could he get the elephant inside? Suddenly he knew how. "The following morning the bears were so sorry for the elephant that they got out all their carpenter tools and busily went to work."

"Did they build another cabin?" Barbara asked this although Daddy thought she was asleep.

"No, they just made a bigger doorway—and the three bears and the elephant lived happily together ever after."

Barbara and George Henry slept peacefully as Daddy carried them upstairs and put them in their beds.

Then Daddy went downstairs, picked up the newspaper and settled back in his chair. But he didn't read the newspaper. It dropped to the floor as he closed his eyes and went to sleep.

New Insecticides to Save

Considerable Grain Damage

A new and safe insecticide material, which itself can save more grain from damage by insects than that needed for the relief of Europe, now is in production, and insecticides made from it are being made available to the consumer in quantity, says Glenn Haskell, president of U. S. Industrial Chemicals.

The new insecticide, which can be used with complete freedom where food is handled, is known as pyrene. After three years of exhaustive tests, it has been found effective against a broad range of insect life.

The new insecticide is versatile in its application, and can be used in oil sprays, aerosols, emulsions, dusts or wettable powders. Its non-toxic nature makes it safe for use under any circumstances, Haskell says.

It can be sprayed on the interiors of grain bins, where insects have been taking an annual toll of 300 million bushels of grain in the United States alone, or three times the 100 million bushels needed for the relief of Europe. It can be used safely on growing foods, feeds of animals or anywhere that food is processed or prepared for human consumption. It has complete safety in household or garden use, and can be used directly on animals, without damaging effect to animals or to meat and dairy products.

THE popularity of "Portia Faces Life" is a strong argument for the intelligence of American women. Mona Kent, who writes the NBC daytime serial, starring Lucille Wall, knows that housewives' interests reach beyond their homes. If "Portia," a lawyer, tries a case in court, the procedure is shown. When her husband wrote for a movie company, we got an insight into the trials and tribulations of a scenario writer. This is in sharp and welcome contrast to the belief of another top-notch writer of daytime serials, who claims that the women who listen to such programs don't care about anything outside their own experience.

Paul Stewart, back in the cast of CBS' "Crime Photographer," after working in RKO's "Weep No More" with Joseph Cotton, says he's through with "stubble acting." Stewart, who needs a shave throughout the picture, says, "With a close shave or a full beard you can play practically any part, but if the script calls for you to have a stubble, you're a gangster."

The long-awaited Marx Brothers picture, "Blondes Up," is before the cameras at last, for United Artists release. Betty Hutton's sister, Marion, makes her debut as one of the blondes. The other two are Ilona Massey and Vera Ellen.

John Agar, since making his film debut in "Fort Apache," spends at least two evenings a week reading and rehearsing scenes from Broadway plays. They're mostly love scenes, as wife Shirley Temple rehearses with him.

George Montgomery, who has been winding up his starring role in Edward Small's "Indian Scout" for United Artists, plans to take off for Europe soon, with Dinah Shore Montgomery. It will be his first European visit.

Irene Rich, who returned to the screen in "Fort Apache" and "Joan of Arc," had fun in New York recently, seeing herself as she was in the old silent films. The picture she viewed was "Lucretia Lombard," made 26 years ago, starring her and featuring Norma Shearer and Monte Blue. Even now, with graying hair, Miss Rich is as beautiful as when she was a young and popular star.

Frank Sinatra and Romy Vincent have taken options on the old Fatty Arbuckle comedies and will re-film them independently with the 280-pound Vincent in the Arbuckle roles. They planned the venture when both were working on the MGM lot. Vincent's latest picture is "Luxury Liner," in which he is featured with George Brent, Jane Powell and Lauritz Melchior.

The little girl who won notice from the critics 14 years ago as "Asia" in "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" may win it again now that she is a grown-up, glamorous blonde in "My Dream Is Yours." She is Carmen Johnson.

Larry Robinson, "Brad" of "The Second Mrs. Burton," now has a head of flaming red hair—the result of a successful pre-Broadway road tour with "Life With Mother." He dyed his hair for the role of the eldest son.

Nicknames of states is the subject heading the list in questions submitted to the CBS "Everybody Wins" quiz show. State flowers and mottos come next, with music questions third in popularity.

ODDS AND ENDS—"Look for the Silver Lining" is June Haver's ninth picture and also her ninth in Technicolor. She's never made a black and white one. . . . Alan Ladd got a kick out of watching his own funeral, the final scene in "The Great Gatsby." . . . Edward G. Robinson's production company is finally going to be filmed after years of preparation. . . . On the strength of his performance in the Bette Davis film, "Winter Meeting," Jim Davis has been signed by Eagle-Lion for "Red Stallion in the Rockies." He has been working as a cement mixer these last months to get in trim.

Kathleen Norris Says:

Today Mothers Work for Luxuries

Bell Syndicate.—WNU Features.

When children get to the ages of 10 or 12, they are old enough to be of real household use.

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

A QUESTION I am asked often is whether it is a good idea for the woman of the family to hold a job. Arguments on this point have been going on for many years.

In the eyes of the last generation, it was generally considered unfortunate and inadvisable for Mother to be a breadwinner, while two generations ago, it was simply unthinkable. Only women unfortunate enough to be widowed, with young children to support, were supposed to engage in any gainful work, and this was usually teaching or taking boarders.

But times have changed. Our young married folk, our young parents are facing a different world from the world their fathers and mothers knew. Everything is different. The cost of living has increased not 10 nor 20 per cent but several times 100 per cent. Domestic service is commanding prices that would have seemed fantastic even a short while ago and that are prohibitive now.

The nervous pressure upon everyone, from Grandma down to the new baby, is terrific. We are hardly aware of what creates this intense strain, but we are all conscious of it.

All day long we are meeting hard conditions. Marketing is a shock. Keeping the children in orange juice, new shoes, carfare and luncheon milk provides a series of shocks. Taxation is one long jolt.

The increase among our men of heart attacks, stomach ulcers, nerve ailments and breakdowns constitutes a mute testimony to what they are enduring.

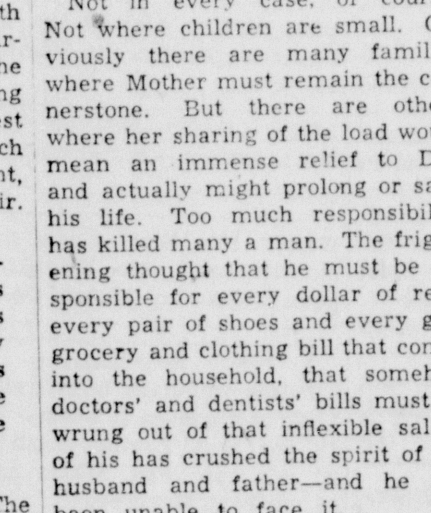

Escape From Reality.

We escape from realities by a thousand devices. We read exciting crime books, listen to startling air programs, go to endless movies, spend money recklessly—why not? The old world has disintegrated before our eyes, the old ways are gone; we live for the moment.

In this new civilization, burdened as it is with high expenses, high taxation and the steady demands of less fortunate folk, who so pitifully need food and clothing, it seems to me that the time has come for Mother to do her share in supporting the household.

Not in every case, of course. Not where children are small. Obviously there are many families where Mother must remain the cornerstone. But there are others where her sharing of the load would mean an immense relief to Dad and actually might prolong or save his life. Too much responsibility has killed many a man. The frightening thought that he must be responsible for every dollar of rent, every pair of shoes and every gas, grocery and clothing bill that comes into the household, that somehow doctors' and dentists' bills must be wrung out of that inflexible salary of his has crushed the spirit of the husband and father—and he has been unable to face it.

When children get to the ages of 10 or 12, they are old enough to be of real household use. They are old enough to learn the value of money. They can be trained to do much that will make the household run smoothly and such training always will be valuable to them. We don't ask half enough of our children and the result is that a half-grown girl will stand apathetically by while Mom dampens the laundry, puts away the groceries, brushes

... be must be responsible ...

JOB PROBLEM

American family life is geared to such a high degree that it requires a multitude of conveniences, gadgets and appliances to keep abreast of the traditionally American standard of living. In grandmother's day automobiles, radios, telephones and refrigerators were considered luxuries. Today they are necessities.

People constantly strive to better themselves. They look forward to the day when they can move from their four-room cottage into a spacious home with a natural fireplace, built-in garage and wide, sweeping lawns. By putting her shoulder to the wheel, a woman may make a wishful dream a reality.

In addition to helping achieve an otherwise unattainable goal, the woman who gets a job receives the inward satisfaction of knowing that she contributes materially.

up the lunch crumbs and wipes the glasses, meanwhile demanding insistently, "Mom, can Carol come to dinner?"; Mom, can Carol come to dinner?"

Everybody Should Help.

Two salaries in a family are better than one; three, when the 17-year-old girl or boy gets a Saturday job, are better than two. Everyone ought to save and eventually everyone ought to invest. To invest $3 to make $4 is the government's offer and I personally am glad of every $100 I put into Liberty bonds through the war years, because whatever other money does or doesn't do, that money is safe.

But property is a good investment, too. An empty lot, two plain garages on that lot, both rented, then a house started on that lot and presently a paid off mortgage on that house and the one next door—and there is a steady income, bringing a sense of security to the whole family.

It sounds dull, but it is on that foundation that most of the fortunes of America are built. Not the big sensational fortunes—the oil and railway and patent medicine fortunes that drag with them so ruinous a tax and such tremendous responsibilities—but all the happy lesser histories, just comfortable prosperity, just that little more than plenty that is the rule with millions of Americans.

The extra car, the summer trip, the plain little country club with its swimming and tennis, the new playroom built and the gift-circled Christmas tree—these are everyday miracles.

There are 43 million cars moving about in America. No other country in the world has half of that. There are telephones, electric and gas stoves, washers, furnaces, radios, theaters and schools in proportions that never have been equaled in the story of the world.

They all stand for progress, for comfort, for making things easy. But to hold them and a thousand other luxuries, Mother can't be a perfect lady, a clinging vine, a money-ignorant little spender any longer. Her job now may be to get a job.

Causes of Headaches.

Headaches are caused mostly by an allergic reaction of the mucous membranes of the nose, according to a study of 1,000 cases reported in the 1948 Britannica Year Book.

Other common causes, in the order of frequency, are inflammation of the muscles in the neck; mechanical nasal obstruction; inflammation of the sinuses and neuropsychiatric disorders. Headaches caused by muscle inflammations may continue long after the cause has been corrected.

Storage Chest Solves Extra Space Problem

IF YOU have a problem storing extra bed linen, out-of-season clothing, or just about one hundred other articles everyone collects and doesn't know where to put, this under-the-bed storage chest should be of interest to you. While the pattern offered suggests building a chest approximately 30" wide, 42" long by 6" deep, it can be built to any length required.

One of the big features of this chest, beside ample storage facilities, is its utilization of unused space. Being suspended between large wooden wheels the chest can be rolled under the bed, even over rugs with very little effort.

Anyone can build this chest by following the full size pattern now available. It tells what materials are needed, shows location of bolt and screw holes and provides the simplest method of building. All the materials needed are now available at lumber yards everywhere.

If you live in an apartment and hesitate to make this chest for fear of disturbing the neighbors, the chest can be built without driving a nail. A glue is now available that binds two pieces of wood together so thoroughly that the wood will break before the joint can be loosened.

A tip to those who plan on attending a wedding real soon—this chest makes an ideal wedding gift for the lucky bride and groom. Send 25c for Pattern No. 27 to East-Bld Pattern Company, Dept. W., Pleasantville, New York.

Sisters Meet For First Time

A London airport was the scene of the meeting of two sisters who had never seen each other before, although both were over thirty years old. When Miss June Morgan, 31, stepped down from the plane arriving from the United States she was greeted by her sister Violet, 34, now Mrs. Clifford Evans of Reading, England, who had been left in Great Britain as a child when her parents went to America, where June was born three years later. Each sister had photographs of the other and they had no difficulty in recognizing each other at the crowded airport.

To keep sandwiches fresh, wrap them in waxed paper; but before you fold the paper over, run a warm iron along the double edges. The wax will melt and the edges will fuse.

To scrape the bottom of a pot, use a wooden spoon or the sharp end of a wooden clothespin. This minimizes noise as well as damage to the pot.

Be sure the cloth or potholder you use to handle hot pots and pans is dry. If it's wet, the moisture will form steam and burn your hand.

If your scouring powder comes in cardboard containers which go to pieces before the powder is used up, make your own permanent container by using an empty mayonnaise jar in the top of which you have punched holes. To keep this glass "powder shaker" from slipping out of your wet soapy hands, put some strips of adhesive tape around the sides of the jar.

Most common types of shoe polish can be removed with cleaning fluid. Or, on washable whites, let the polish dry and then brush most of it off. After that, wet it and let it dry again so you can brush it again.

In an emergency, when you haven't time to change from your best shoes to your house ones for some last-minute cooking or dish washing, protect the shoes by slipping paper bags over your feet and secure them at the ankles with rubber bands.

To avoid steaming up the bathroom when you draw your bath, run cold water first and then add hot water to it until you get the desired mixture. After a shower, turn on the cold water for a few minutes to clear up the steam.

When you empty a hot-water bottle, blow air into it and then screw the stopper in.

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure.

When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide dis-

Survey Reveals Under-Age Children Are Employed in Many Texas Plants

Employment of under-age minors, with its attending dangers and perils, is still prevalent in North Texas, according to Lawson A. Wood, who represents the Wage & Hour and Public Contracts division, United States Department of Labor, in this section of the state.

Wood said the fiscal year report shows violations of the child labor sections of the Fair Labor Standards act (federal wage and hour law) and the Walsh-Healey (public contracts) act were uncovered in more than four per cent of the plants inspected in this state during the year ending July 1.

"A total of 1,204 covered establishments were inspected in all parts of Texas during that period, and child labor violations were found in 51," he said.

"The wage and hour law prohibits the employment of children under 16 years old in manufacturing or processing occupations, or in workrooms where manufacturing or processing is being carried on. It also bans employment of under 16 or a girl under 18 years of age in occupations declared to be dangerous or hazardous. The Walsh-

Healey act, which applies to firms supplying goods or materials to the government on contracts exceeding $10,000, prohibits a boy under 16 or a girl under 18 years old from working on such contract goods.

"Department reports show many children have been injured, permanently crippled or killed working around machinery or in rooms where machinery is being operated. Among the occupations held to be hazardous for children under 18 years old are: driver or helper on motor vehicles, logging and sawmilling, coal mining, operating of power-driven woodworking machinery and operating power-driven hoisting apparatus, including elevators."

Six Million Receive Social Security Aid

More than 6,000,000 Americans are receiving payments under some of the provisions of the Social Security Act, it was announced this week by Ralph T. Fisher, manager for this area.

The Social Security Act became a law 13 years ago, on August 10, 1935.

The law was designed to provide financial security to wage earners throughout the nation. It was amended in 1939 and again in 1946 the social security act still retains the basic provisions of the original law.

The act consists of four main features: 1.—A federal system of retirement and survivors' insurance for workers and their families, based on employer-employee contributions; 2.—A federal-state plan for payments to the needy aged, needy blind, and dependent children; 3.—A federal-state plan providing for payment of unemployment benefits to unemployed workers; 4.—Federal aid to states maternal and child health.

FIRST AID to the AILING HOUSE

by Roger C. Whitman

QUESTION: Our gas refrigerator has taken on a yellowish color. How can I restore it to its former whiteness?

ANSWER: Try washing the surface with mild soap and warm water. Rinse with a solution of javelle water, using about three teaspoonsful in a quart of water, and wipe dry.

QUESTION: What should I do about curled shingles on my house?

ANSWER: Sometimes a curled shingle can be split in two or three pieces and then well nailed. If only a few of your shingles are curled, replace them with shingles of a better quality.

QUESTION: What can I do about hot water pipes that constantly cause the paint to peel off? I wish to repaint several rooms and would like this information.

ANSWER: You could use a radiator enamel, following the manufacturer's directions for application. But you should make some allowance for a slight darkening of the color under heat and choose a shade a little lighter than you otherwise would select. The pipes must be clean and cold for a good paint job and for thorough drying.

DEVOTIONAL READING: John 6:1-14.

Andrew, The Man Who Brought Others

Lesson for August 15, 1948

MET Andrew, brother of Simon Peter, fisherman of Galilee. Follow his career and you will account him one of the truly great men of the ages, chiefly because he was ever alert to help men on to God. He was always introducing his friends to Jesus.

There are many passages of scripture cited for this study, with the devotional reading in Luke and the Golden Text from John 1:40: "He brought him to Jesus."

WHAT ANDREW TOLD HIS FRIENDS

WHEN Andrew met Jesus, and discovered in him the Saviour of men, he went and found his brother, Simon, and said unto him, "We have found the Messiah, which is, being interpreted, the Christ," John 1:41.

What do we tell our friends? Do we not delight to tell our friends what we have found to be good? This was the mission of Andrew—telling his friends about Jesus, for he had found in Jesus that which was good. John the Baptist had told Andrew about Jesus, and he was determined that he would tell everyone who would listen this good news.

HOW ANDREW KNEW ABOUT JESUS

ANDREW got his impressions of Jesus firsthand. When he heard John the Baptist say, "Behold the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world," he went on to inquire about Jesus, and Jesus bade him and John spend the day with Him. They did, from 10 o'clock in the morning until late afternoon. That was enough. Andrew knew from that day about Jesus. He was now ready to tell others what he knew about Jesus.

Do we know Jesus well enough to tell others about him? If a fisherman could tell the story effectively, cannot everyone? But let us remember this, no man can introduce his friend to Jesus until he himself knows Jesus.

THE MAN WHO BROUGHT OTHERS

LET'S look for a moment at some of the people Andrew brought to Jesus. We begin, of course, with Simon, his brother. Here, I think, is the highest test of his ability to tell others about Jesus—bringing his own brother. It is often easier to tell strangers about Jesus than those of our own family.

And now we see Andrew yonder in the multitude, finding the lad with the loaves and fishes, and bringing him to Jesus. That is the test of seeing the right person at the right time. And again this is the acid test of introducing people to Jesus.

Again, we see Andrew sensing the fact that some young Greeks had come a long way to see Jesus. He knew how to help them. In this incident we see the final example of winning people to Jesus—cultured Greeks, who were familiar, we may assume, with the current thought of the world. But this simple fisherman of Galilee knew how to approach them, how to gain their attention, how to bring them to Jesus.

THEY WAIT FOR THE ANDREWS TODAY

THE world waits for some Andrew today. I fully believe that most people could be won to Christ if only there were enough Andrews. Rarely have I had a person to repel me when I faithfully followed the leading of the Holy Spirit to speak to such person about Jesus.

Andrew did not rely upon his own resources. He went in the might of the Lord. He knew what Jesus had done for him. He yearned to see all men enjoy their blessing. He was a simple messenger—a voice.

And God gave him words—words that tell like good seed into fertile soil. So may we today introduce our friends to Jesus. Only let us remember this—we must first know him!

Philosophy

A little philosophy inclineth man's mind to atheism, but depth in philosophy bringeth man's mind about to religion.—Bacon.

Try to do to others as you would have them do to you, and do not be discouraged if they fail sometimes.—Dickens.

These Foods Make a Picnic
(See recipes below)

Picnic Foods

WE ALL AGREE that picnics are fun, but how's the food holding out, now that you've already had some picnics during the summer? Is the variety still there to tempt jaded appetites or are you ready for some quick and easy ideas full of inspiration?

You'll want to keep anything edible simple and easy to prepare as well as easy to carry because it's no fun to get worn out in the process of packing, and there is also nothing worse than arriving with soggy sandwiches as well as bruised fruit or muddled cake.

Everyone will feel better at picnics if you plan well balanced meals, so have your share of starches, vitamins and minerals.

Sandwiches are a standby, but they can have infinite variety. Add some crisp vegetables to the filling when you can, thus making the texture interesting and more delicious.

Plan to use fruit in season, carefully washed and wrapped, of course, so you can enjoy eating it. Cakes should be simple, and are best made in square or oblong pans, tucked in a box and cut when served. No chance for messing when it's done this way!

HERE ARE SOME delightful fillings for sandwiches which I know will be a hit with the folks. Chill the fillings, and they won't soak through the bread.

*Savory Ham-Vegetable Filling (Makes 8 sandwiches)

16 slices bread
1 cup softened butter
1 cup deviled ham
1 cup grated raw carrot
1 cup chopped green pepper
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup mayonnaise

Spread sliced bread and butter. On eight slices spread deviled ham. Combine green pepper, carrot, salt and mayonnaise. Spread carrot mixture on ham and place buttered slices of bread on top. Cut as desired and wrap well.

*Egg Salad Sandwiches (Makes 8)

4 chopped hard-cooked eggs
1 cup minced celery
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup minced stuffed olives
1/2 cup mayonnaise

Mix all ingredients together in order given. Spread filling on cracked wheat bread which has been buttered.

Shrimp Sandwiches (Makes 8)

1/2 cup canned and cleaned shrimp, crabmeat or lobster
4 tablespoons butter or substitute
1/2 teaspoon minced onion
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon mustard
2 tablespoons minced stuffed olives

White or whole wheat bread
Mince the shrimp and mix with the remaining ingredients. Chill thoroughly before spreading on bread.

*Chicken-Ham Sandwiches (Makes 6)

1/2 cup ground, cooked chicken
1/2 cup ground, cooked ham
3 chopped, stuffed olives
1 1/2 tablespoons mayonnaise
1/2 teaspoon lemon juice

LYNN SAYS:

Do Something Special With Your Salads

Scoop out fresh and nicely firm cucumbers. Flake a can of salmon, season it with lemon juice and mayonnaise and fill the hollowed cucumbers. With this pass some crackers and cheese and luncheon is served.

Chicken salad takes on an elegant air when it's served in canned peach halves. Sprinkle with toasted, slivered almonds.

Combine and spread on white bread.

DEVILED EGGS are handy to have on a picnic to eat either with the sandwiches, by themselves or with tomatoes or other relishes. Here's a tasty way in which you may prepare them without too much work.

*Deviled Eggs.
8 hard-cooked eggs
4 tablespoons softened butter
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
Dash of pepper
1 teaspoon vinegar
Mayonnaise

Cut eggs in half lengthwise and remove yolks. Mash yolks and combine with butter, salt, mustard, pepper and vinegar. Add mayonnaise to make a creamy consistency.

Refill egg white and sprinkle with paprika. Chill.

HERE ARE SEASONAL fruits suitable to take on a picnic: Apples, plums, nectarines, peaches, berries, cantaloupes and watermelon. Oranges, apples and bananas are also good standbys. Grapes and cherries are delightful. Berries and peaches may be washed, sugared and placed in mason jars with tight covers. If you are taking melon, it's best to chill it thoroughly, wrap in waxed paper, and cut and scoop out the seeds just before you serve it.

IF YOU LIKE easy-to-carry cookies to take along with you, serve them with the fruit or as snacks between meals if you are making the picnic a whole day affair.

*Mince-meat Goodies (Makes 4 dozen)
1 cup shortening
2 cups sugar
3 eggs, beaten
3 cups sifted flour
1 cup mince-meat
1 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup chopped nuts

Cream shortening and sugar together until fluffy. Add eggs and flour enough to prevent mixture from curdling. Add mince-meat and dry ingredients, sifted together, and the nuts. The amount of flour varies with the amount of liquid in the mince-meat. The mixture should be stiff enough to drop from spoon onto a greased cookie sheet. Bake in a moderate (375 degree) oven about 10 minutes.

Released by WNU Features.

Melons have an affinity for lime seasoning. Marinate wedges or balls of melon in the juice before serving them on crisp lettuce leaves.

Have you ever served a shrimp salad in cucumber cups? Or try the salad in green pepper rings, garnished with wedges of red, ripe, well chilled tomatoes and deviled eggs.

Pimiento cups are a nice innovation for salads. Try filling them with an egg and celery salad.

Portlight

by GRANTLAND RICE

SOME time back we were discussing the affairs of baseball's state with Connie Mack. The part that luck plays came up for some chatter.

"In my opinion luck plays a small part, a very small part," Mack said, "with 154 games to play. There is only one spot that luck can figure rather heavily. This could be in some injury or illness striking at a key player, one who can't be replaced. This is about the worst luck you can get," he said.

So the Braves can be charged with the worst luck of the season in losing Eddie Stanky for practically the rest of the season. For despite what Branch Rickey and Leo Durocher thought about it, Stanky has been the most valuable, the most useful second baseman in the National League.

His absence from Brooklyn has accounted in large part for most of the Dodgers' doldrums earlier in the race. It has accounted for a loss of 100,000 in attendance, due to so many games lost that Stanky's presence could have won.

When the Stanky blow fell, Billy Southworth had just organized his cast into the most formidable team in the league. It had good catching and certainly one of the soundest pitching staffs in Johnny Sain, Warren Spahn, Bill Voiselle and Vernon Bickford.

Braves Had Hitters

The Braves had a good hitting outfield on hand. But above all in Stanky and Alvin Dark, the Braves had the strongest second-base combination in the circuit. And it might be added that Stanky was largely responsible for young Dark's fine play and his marked improvement.

On the day Stanky was hurt, both he and Dark were hitting .320. Both were among the first five among the league's best hitters. As a defensive combination they had no superior pair to face. Just how Stanky's substitute will work out has yet to be shown over a long stretch.

This could easily be the wrecking bad luck that Mack was talking about. The Braves may win the pennant without Stanky. With the pepper box around them they were the best team in their league, the team one had to pick as the probable pennant winner. You know what would happen to the Cardinals if they lost Stan Musial or where the Indians would be without Lou Boudreau.

Athletics Have Pitchers

The fact that a majority of the experts, prophets, and soothsayers still are waiting for the Athletics to crack hasn't annoyed Mack too greatly. Still he hasn't liked it too much. The records show that he has the soundest and most consistent pitching staff in the league.

"And the facts show," Mack tells you, "that we have just about as good a ball club as the Yankees, Indians or Red Sox in other departments. It isn't as fast as it might be but it can hit and field and I certainly know of no other club that has more spirit. No club that has been up around the front for three playing months can be considered any morning glory. If Phil Marchiondi were in his 1947 shape, we'd have a nice lead already set aside with better prospects on ahead."

Whatever happens, 1948 can be set down as one of Mack's bigger years. The veteran won his first American league pennant 46 years ago in 1902. He won again in 1905, 1910, 1911, 1913, 1914, 1929, 1930 and 1931. So it has been a matter of 17 years since the tall, thin old-timer has won a flag and he feels that he could make good use of his 10th pennant before retiring from the busy scene.

He had no idea this spring that he could do as well as he has to date. I feel pretty sure that back in early April, Mack gladly would have settled for a spot at the bottom of the first division.

Favorites Fade Out

At that time about all you could hear were the Yankees and the Red Sox. The Tigers and the Indians drew the next rounds of applause. What everyone overlooked was the value of six or seven good, consistent pitchers in a season where good pitching was extremely scarce. When such ball players as Eddie Joost and Hank Majeskie began acting like stars, the Athletics began showing dust to both Yankees and Red Sox.

They gave pretty fair proof of their intentions by opening the season in Boston and walloping the astonished Red Sox three times running. Shortly after this they moved up with the Cleveland Indians and began feeding Athletic dust to the rest of the league.

At the end of the last fall season, the total number of arrow-killed deer during the 13 years of legalized bow hunting in Wisconsin was less than 1,000, considerably less than the salvaged illegal gun kill during the 1947 big game season. Today bowmen do not bag 1 per cent of the legal annual kill. More deer have been killed by automobiles than by bow hunters.

POT-SHOTS FROM McCAULLEY

GEORGE DARDEN

Miss Kate Rainey, Midland, has sent $5 for the McCauley Cemetery Fund.

L. H. Boyd, Henry Cook, F. L. Rector, A. J. Cook and Luther Maberry returned last Thursday from a weeks' fishing trip in New Mexico. The McCauley reporter saw a 27 pound catfish that the boys brought back and of course there was one larger that got away.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Maberry left for Dallas last Sunday to return their daughters, who have been visiting in Dallas for two weeks.

Visiting friends in this community last week end were Mr. and Mrs. Charley Elvens and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Elvens and children, also of Fort Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Fancher from away out on the Texas Plains are visiting relatives in this community. Mrs. Della Fancher returned with them after a several weeks' visit on the Plains and at Post.

The feed crop in this vicinity that looked so promising two weeks ago is twisting and burning till its pitiful, Cotton is still doing good with little or no insects.

The Baptist meeting will continue through this week and will close Sunday night after two weeks of night services

A new editor on The Herald and we liked the job in last weeks' issue. Let's make an outstanding weekly and by so doing will contribute to the growth of this and other communities.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace McCain from Greenville are visiting in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Davidson.

Mr. and Mrs. Turner Houghton and daughter were Sunday visitors in the home of his parents. Also visiting their parents were Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Houghton and sons from Hamlin.

Drilling for oil will begin this week on the Nickless farm two miles west of McCauley. The Humble Company has the lease.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Carroll and family will move this week to the Drennon farm east of town. The Carrolls have been living in Sylvestor. He is manager of the McCauley Supply Company.

Ann and Vera Cozart visited with relatives in Abilene last week.

Mrs. W. C. Kean and daughter, Jean, have returned home from a visit with her father in Pittsburg, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Kaen from California are visiting in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Kean, of McCauley.

Eight years ago this summer the McCauley Pot-Shots appeared on the back page of The Hamlin Herald for the first time. Bowen Pope the owner, editor and publisher at that time encouraged the one horse town writer and published our "lingo" as written, even though at times a shade "crude" and many times B-wen did not agree with our comments yet he believed in every man having the right to his own opinion therefore he used up a little more printers ink and published our stuff. Through the years we have received letters from all parts of the world from readers of this column complimenting our news and frank remarks, for all of which we are very grateful, and so long as we use the "hunt and peck" system and so long as the editor continues the use of printers ink on said column the readers of Pot-Shots can expect most anything. The news from the "grapevine" often published in this column is just one of our short comings—but we gotta' notin' that folks like a little gossip even in a newspaper. If we fail to see you then mail us your local news items and watch the Pot-Shots for news of the old home town.—Yours, George.

A story of long ago where a man sold his birthright for a mess of pottage. There seems to be a few folks now days who would sell their birth right for a government job and a chance to eat out of the public trough.

Our good friend Jess Green who lives down in the Lawlis flat comes by the feed store every week and he and the scribe naturally talk a little politics, and the funny part of it is that we agree on most candidates and see eye to eye on the senatorial race.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Dick Jr., from Crosbytown visited parents in McCauley last week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Miller left Sunday for Huntsville on business.

A clipping from a San Antonio daily says: Miss Jammie Nickless is visiting in Honolulu having flown there from her home in Alamo

City and on her return will enter a medical school in Galveston. Miss Nickless was reared in McCauley and her parents were formerly in the drug business here. Farmers will start combining grain this week in this community and some early maize is making at around 1,200 pounds per acre we understand.

Comment No. 1—The political polls such as the Belden and Gallup polls should be withheld from the press. Such polls often cause voters to vote for the leading candidate for fear of losing their vote. In our opinion such polls are unfair to the candidates who do not have the money to spend on the radio and other advertising. It's not always the case that the men elected are the better qualified. Many candidates "bite the dust" for lack of publicity and yet in many cases the losing candidate is better qualified.

Mr. and Mrs. Ned White and two children have moved to Hamlin from Stamford. They will make their home here. Mr. White is employed at the gravel pits.

Mr. and Mrs. Ancie Gray Griffin of Oakland, Calif., are guests this week of Griffin's mother, Mrs. Doc Griffin in Hamlin.

Forest Lee and Phil Reynolds of Fort Worth have been guests in the home of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Carlton, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Carlton, Sr., have returned from Bridgeport where they attended a family reunion. One hundred persons were present for the gathering.

Mrs. A. D. Ensey and daughter, Monnie Ann, of Odessa, are visiting Mrs. Ensey's mother, Mrs. B. S. Ferguson.

Miss Jerri Lynn Irwin left Monday for Bronte, where she will be a guest of her grandmother.

SPECIAL THIS Week—W. C. Redmon, cloth Hampers, 40 per cent off regular price; combination fire place screen and card tables 50 per cent off regular price.—Borrow Furniture. 6-1c

Mrs. Dave Harris is spending this month as a guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Evans and family in San Marcos. Evans is president of San Marcos Teachers' College

Mrs. Carl McGough has been called to Stephenville, where her father is seriously ill.

Mrs. I. R. Hutchinson and daughter, Eleanor, are guests this week of Mrs. Hutchinson's brother and sister in White Deer, Texas.

Mrs. John Allen of Wills Point is a guest this week of her brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Weir.

I. R. Hutchinson, superintendent of Hamlin schools, was in Abilene Wednesday on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Carlton and son, Jerry, of Holdenville, Oklahoma are guests of their mothers, Mrs. A. H. Carlton and Mrs. B. S. Ferguson

Fire Department Open House Host

Visiting Fireman Guests at Opening

Hamlin's Volunteer Fire Department was host at a celebration and open house Thursday evening at the formal opening of the new fire station, when visiting firemen, and local townspeople were guests.

The celebration marked the move of the department into its first new home in more than 38 years, and a demonstration of the modern fire fighting equipment owned by the city provided entertainment for those attending.

Members of fire departments from Aspermont, Anson and Stamford attended the program and also took part in the demonstrations.

Charles Branscum, chairman of the progress committee, had general charge of the evening's events. Several short talks were made by city officials, fire department members and visitors.

A demonstration of the city's two pumper fire trucks held the close attention of visitors, who also were interested in a demonstration of the department's iron lung.

The lung, which is kept at Hamlin Memorial Hospital is for the use, without charge, of anyone who might need it. W. T. "Mickey" McGuire, fire chief said.

The Hamlin Volunteer Fire Department was organized in 1908 and has been active in protecting the city from fires for more than 40 years.

For more than 38 years the city's fire trucks were housed in a sheet iron building on a side street, which was abandoned this week as the trucks and equipment were moved into the modern new home.

Constructed at a cost of more than $11,000, the new fire station embodies all of the latest improvements for such buildings. Wide doors and ample room are provided in front for the trucks, and a recreation and meeting room is situated in the rear. A shower and clean-up room was installed on the first floor.

WINNERS OF DISTRICT TITLE

Mighty Mice Take Off for Houston; To Get Tournament Test on Friday

Hamlin's teen-age softball team, the Mighty Mice, left Thursday morning for Houston, where it will participate in the state tournament to be held at Heights Lions Field.

Winners of the district tourney, when they defeated Stamford 7 to 4 in a thriller last week-end, the Mighty Mice were anxious for the first test in the Texas tournament.

Not content with winning all games played against teams of their own age, the Mighty Mice Wednesday night matched their prowess against the Celotex men's team in a game at City Park, and defeated the adults 1 to 0.

The district champs were attempting to earn money for the trip to Houston, and played in the second half of a double-header game.

In the first game the Veterans of Foreign Wars, which sponsored the Mice, played the Rotary Club in a game of bicycle softball, unique in Hamlin.

Players were mounted on bikes and spills and thrills entertained the crowd. All proceeds from the double-header game went to defray expenses of the trip.

Joe King, manager of the Mighty Mice, and director of the VFW summer recreation program, accompanied the players to the tournament.

Team members who are making the trip are: L. Baume, J. Ford, Sugar Green, Joe Dean, D. Ford, Goodgame, Stapler, Butler, Rowland, L. Hartgraves, T. Hartgraves, R. Armstrong, Maberry, Couch and May.

Veterans Advised Check Provisions Of GI Insurance

Veterans Administration advised veterans to give their National Service Life Insurance policies periodic "three-way checks" to make certain that their NSLI programs are consistent with their plans, obligations and incomes.

The "three-way check" should cover: 1.—beneficiaries, both principle and contingent; 2.—manner in which proceeds are to be paid to beneficiaries; and 3.—amount and type of NSLI in force.

Many veterans fail to name new beneficiaries when they marry or when a designated beneficiary dies VA said.

If a veteran dies without naming a beneficiary, or if no designated beneficiary is alive at the time of his death, proceeds of the insurance go into his estate and are subject to inheritance taxes. Final distribution of the proceeds may not be that which the veteran would have desired.

Changes in family status or family income often require a veteran to change the method of NSLI settlement. He may elect to have his NSLI proceeds paid to his beneficiary in a lump sum or in equal monthly installments ranging from 36 to lifetime income.

The type and amount of NSLI owned by a veteran should be that which best fits his pocketbook and gives him the most coverage, VA said. NSLI policies include term, ordinary life, 30-payment life, 20-payment life, endowment at age of 60, endowment at age of 65 and 20-year endowment.

Position on Faculty Of City Schools Open

Clowns have long slapped each other with a split stick which makes a loud noise. From this comes the word slapstick.

BUSINESS IS GOOD

'Petticoat Revolt' Fails to Halt Sales Of Meat in Markets; Some Cheat

Business was good in Hamlin meat markets the first part of this week—in face of the "Petticoat Rebellion" of housewives who strated a meat-buyers strike.

A partial survey of meat markets by a Herald reporter elicited the information that sales were running about as usual and some markets reported that meat sales were up slightly from last week.

"It must have been the free advertising we got," one of the proprietors commented.

The rebellion began last week in Dallas and quickly spread to other parts of Texas and even to other states.

In Hamlin a group of housewives got together and after hurried consultation set themselves the task of calling every person listed in the telephone directory to request that women of the city go on strike against the buying of meats, beginning Monday, August 9.

However, several markets reported unusually brisk sales of meats over the week-end, immediately before the start of the "meat holiday."

One woman bought enough meat Saturday to stock her home freezer locker, a market proprietor reported. She told the proprietor, "I am fully in sympathy with the strike and I don't intend to buy a single pound of meat all next week. But I don't intend that my family shall go hungry, either," she continued, "so I am stocking up on enough to last through the entire week."

Meanwhile members of the committee in Hamlin who first advocated the strike here were insisting that if the housewives of the nation will only stick together for a few weeks in their refusal to purchase high priced meats, the prices will come tumbling down.

Ten Lettermen to Form Nucleus for '48 Version of Pipers; Work Starts

Hamlin's 1948 version of the Pied Piper football team will be built around 10 lettermen, it was announced this week by high school athletic officials.

Two of the 10 are men with two season's experience, and the other eight have had one year on the field.

It is expected that 40 men will show up for first fall practice Monday, August 16 when Coach Jesse Burditt and Assistant Coach Johnny Howell begin putting the candidates through their paces.

Burditt was looking forward with confidence to the season after he had surveyed the possibilities for the team.

"My boys are all small," he said, "but they are all hustlers and we believe we'll have a team that Hamlin won't be ashamed of."

Prospective members of the team, directed by the coaches, were busy this week cleaning up the football field and getting it in shape for practice and the first game. It is hoped to have the field in first class condition before the first home contest, when Aspermont will come here for a game, September 17.

Lettermen who will form the nucleus for the 1948 team are: Seth Adams, and Stanley Butler, two year men; Carroll Phipps, Donald Young, Donald Green, Harold Johnson, Joe Ford, Asa Ray Goodgame, W. T. Stapler, and Thee Hill.

The Pipers lost 10 men from last year's team when they graduated last spring.

CONGRESS:

Feudin' and Fightin'

Bitter recriminations resounded as the fight between President Truman and the GOP-controlled congress moved into a new round with convening of the extra session of the 80th congress.

In a dynamite-laden atmosphere, the President appeared before a joint session of the congress which he had labeled "one of the worst in history" to demand a sweeping anti-inflation economic program. The reception for both the President and his program was cool as Republicans launched their wrecking-crew tactics.

Defiant GOP leaders charged Mr. Truman with playing politics and prepared to play politics of their own. The net result, it appeared, would be a short special session.

Initial step in the GOP's program of obstruction was a decision that the extra session should consider only those recommendations made by Mr. Truman which could "pass a test." This test, established by the majority conference, set the qualifications for congressional action as follows:

Proposed legislation must be emergency in character.

It must contain a problem of national importance.

It must be a program which can be processed properly within the time available to an emergency session.

This available time for processing would be no longer than a period of congress which would not "interfere with the proper conduct" of the autumn campaigns.

No appropriation bills were to be considered, nor would any consideration be given to confirmation of nominations which might be sent to the senate by the President.

Over all hung the threat of a Dixie Democrats' filibuster against the anti-poll tax bill, which would widen the rift between Mr. Truman and the southern wing of his party.

There were no surprises in the President's recommended legislative package. He proposed a re-imposition of the excess profits tax, limited restoration of price controls, even more limited wage controls and enactment of the Taft-Ellender-Wagner housing bill.

WHEAT:

Goal Cut

As clogged elevators and enforced embargoes once again mark the nation's harvest of another bumper wheat crop, the department of agriculture recommends a cut of 8 per cent in wheat acreage in its preliminary recommendations for the 1949 crop year.

Although continued high production of other major grain commodities is recommended, a slight decrease is suggested for wheat acreage, which has increased sharply in recent years in response to war and relief needs.

Looking forward in a move to conserve the country's soil resources, the department points out that "a better balance between soil-conserving and soil-depleting crops will actually assure higher productivity over a longer period of years."

Farmers also are urged to provide for sufficient summer fallow and, in marginal areas, to plant grass seed on land which is not suitable for sustained production of crops.

Also considered in arriving at the wheat goal for this year's increased carry-over, prospects that the 1948 crop will be second largest in history and possibility of smaller demand because of improved crops in importing countries.

The department recommended wheat plantings for 1949 of 71.5 million acres which, with an average yield of 15 bushels an acre, would mean production of nearly 1.1 billion bushels. July estimate of 1948 wheat production was 1,241,751,000 bushels.

In setting another farm goal, the department recommended a beef cattle breeding herd of 15.5 million cows next January 1, a decrease of about 500,000 head. Better management, improved feeding practices and thorough culling, it was suggested, will "put the cattle industry in better position to supply the meat requirements of the increased population."

The recommendations are submitted to state agricultural councils for consideration. State goals and final national goals are determined on the basis of state review and recommendations.

PRECARIOUS PERCH

Americans Seek Economic Security

Increasingly aware of the need for economic security for themselves and their families, Americans will expend approximately 15 billion dollars for that purpose in 1948, the Research Council for Economic Security estimates.

The estimate covers payments made under private or government organized plans to meet in-

Hands in Pockets

Face to face with the congress he had labeled "worst, save one," in history, President Truman was greeted by one of the coolest congressional receptions ever accorded a chief executive when he appeared before the special session. Only polite applause came occasionally from the galleries and from administration followers; Republicans kept their hands in their pockets.

A-BOMBS:

New Force

The veil of secrecy which has shrouded most of the post-war atomic energy experiments was lifted, a tiny bit at least, for the American public in the fourth semi-annual report of the atomic energy commission and an accompanying statement by President Truman.

Justifying the secrecy, the President contended that until controls are established on the international level to prevent use of atomic energy for military purposes "we cannot, as a nation, afford to disclose these secrets which make this new force the most deadly form of military weapon." With that statement, the American people, anxiously eyeing war clouds on the horizon, are inclined to agree.

Some measure of reassurance was contained in both reports, stressing the fact that the nation has gained new power in atomic weapons. Both disclosed that the secret tests of new type bombs at the proving grounds on Eniwetok island early this year were highly successful.

The commission's report, the fourth semi-annual summary to congress as provided by law, indicated there were three bombs used at Eniwetok in the spring project known as "Operation Sandstone." Principal study was "on the generation of nuclear explosion itself" rather than "on the effects of the nuclear explosion," as was the case in the earlier Bikini tests.

The report stressed developments of atomic energy research in medicine, agriculture, metallurgy, other sciences and industry. Radioactive materials have been given 229 institutions and commercial agencies for experimentation.

LIVING COSTS:

Hit Peak

They changed the name—from cost of living index to consumers price index—but they still can't change the trend—upward and ever upward.

In fact, the index struck an all-time high on June 15, with food prices reaching record-shattered levels, the bureau of labor statistics reports.

The index, which represents retail prices of goods and services bought by moderate income families in large cities, registered 171.7 per cent of the 1935-39 average.

Further increases are inevitable, too, for wholesale prices hit an all-time high during the week ended July 17 and it takes about a month for their impact to be recorded in retail prices.

The new consumers price index is 9.3 per cent higher than a year ago; 28.8 per cent above June, 1946, when price controls generally were abandoned, and 74.1 per cent above the August, 1939, level. On V-J Day in 1945 the same index was 129.3 per cent of the 1935-39 average.

Northeastern, middlewestern, and Pacific coast states have the largest measure of protection, both in total amounts and in per capita payments, the study discloses.

DRAFTTEES:

Old Pals

In an endeavor to make the upcoming draftee as happy as a khaki-colored lark, the army is removing its "petty annoyances" as it completes plans to process men inducted under the first peacetime draft in history.

On orders of Gen. Omar Bradley, chief of staff, to remove "the petty annoyances that sent many World War II veterans away hating the army," training officers prepared to greet the recruit like an old friend of the family.

Only the finest officers and non-coms will handle the draftee, training officers promised. The recruit will even be given a $5 advance on his $75 a month pay the first day in camp so he won't be broke. He won't even have to wait to "tell it to the chaplain," as he'll be taken to the chaplain during his orientation days and urged "to let his hair down."

All of this will take place at eight major training centers which have been set up to receive the draftees and give them their basic training. They are Fort Knox and Camp Breckenridge, Ky.; Fort Riley, Kans.; Camp Chaffee, Ark.; Camp Pickett, Va.; Fort Ord, Calif.; Fort Jackson, S. C., and Fort Dix, N. J.

The standard 13-week army training course has been condensed into eight "tough" weeks. Later draftees will be selected for specialist training or sent directly to duty. About half of the draftees will see overseas duty, probably in Korea, Japan, Germany, Alaska, the Canal Zone, Hawaii or Caribbean defense area.

It Might Have Been

Had there been no World War II, no abdication of the late King Victor Emmanuel and no dissolution of the House of Savoy by vote (taking the crown away from ex-King Humbert), then Victor Emmanuel, pictured here, third of the line, might have been fated one day to sit on the throne of Italy. Seemingly the least unhappy about the turn of affairs is handsome, blond Victor Emmanuel, now at Geneva, Switzerland.

GERMANY:

Explosive

Germany remained an explosive issue in the strife-torn international picture.

As the titanic East-West struggle for Berlin continues, reports were current that four-power talks would be resumed in an attempt to settle the crisis there as well as to settle the entire European situation. The rumors circulated after top diplomats of the U. S., Britain and France were closeted in a series of conferences.

In the biggest air lift in history, U. S. and British planes continued to transport food and fuel to the beleaguered city. The big planes averaged 4,500 tons of essential goods daily in their effort to break the Russian blockade.

Violence broke out in the Russian sector of the capital city as thousands of Germans jammed banks to exchange their money for new Soviet-sponsored currency.

Although she looks like a prim school marm, Berlin's woman mayor, Socialist Louise Schroeder, courageously defied Russia's order to dismiss the anti-Communist deputy police chief.

Headliners

IN ANNAPOLIS... An 18-year-old plebe at the U. S. naval academy shouldered a heavy burden when he took his oath. The plebe is John Paul Jones of Piqua, Ohio, no descendant of his famous namesake.

IN FORT WAYNE... Joseph Neal, 48, survived by a nose when he was buried for 20 minutes in a collapse of a sewer trench. A fellow worker tore away some of the dirt to expose the tip of Neal's nose. Later, firemen and police dug the rest of him out.

IN SALLISAW, OKLA... E. W. Floyd, 40-year-old grocery clerk and brother of the onetime Public Enemy No. 1, Charles (Pretty Boy) Floyd, was elected sheriff in a bitterly-fought contest.

IN CHARLESTOWN... Farmer Eben Trussell drove his new car home, parked it in the barn lot. There a bull calf saw his reflection in the windshield, took a running leap, crashed through the glass and bounced back on the hood. A veterinarian stitched the bull together and a mechanic did the same for the car.

Calling the Cards

Apologists for the 80th congress, including Herbert Brownell Jr., Governor Dewey's campaign manager, are attempting to sneak behind a tree by saying the Republican leadership of this congress, in special session or otherwise, is in no way bound by the pledges of the Republican platform adopted at Philadelphia a few short weeks ago.

This 1948 Republican platform, they say, was adopted for the 81st congress, not the 80th, and therefore the GOP leadership is not bound by its pledges. All of which, of course, is a vague evasive technicality, since leadership in the 81st congress will be virtually the same as the 80th congress unless there is a Democratic landslide come November.

Senator Taft, senate majority leader; Senator Wherry, senate whip; Speaker Joe Martin in the house; Majority Leader Charlie Halleck and Congressmen Knutson, Taber and Allen—all will be in their places in the 81st congress.

So if they are not morally bound by the 1948 platform pledges four weeks after the platform was adopted, there is certainly no reason to believe they will be bound by those same pledges six months from now.

Charges by the GOP leadership that the call for the special session is "pure politics" on the part of President Truman and the attempts to evade the issues on needed legislation are, in the opinion of this reporter, slightly ridiculous when it is remembered that prior to adjournment both Senator Taft and Speaker Martin spoke of the possibility of reconvening congress to "finish their job" after the conventions were over.

For example, in 1937, the Crossett Lumber company gave the government 1,600 acres of typical second growth stands in southeastern Arkansas. I can't go into the program of experimental work that has been done there, but there is one item that affects our story.

R. R. Reynolds of the forestry service went to work on 40 acres of this area. He did the things any farmer can learn to do to a similar woodland.

Last year Reynolds reported eight annual cuts which averaged a marketable value of more than $580 a year, and he had as much volume as when he started!

Of course, everybody hasn't Reynolds' know-how, but the government is helping to spread that know-how through its representatives or through state organizations. So is private enterprise.

Florida Teaches Youth Forestry Fundamentals

Thirteen years ago, Florida for example, began a forestry training camp for her Future Farmers of America members. On August 1 of this year, some 200 members of the FFA attended a two week camp at Camp O'Leno, about 60 miles west of Jacksonville, where they were taught, in the forest, the fundamentals of good forest practices.

The first week was for beginners who had had no previous forestry background; the second week was for those who had attended a previous camp.

During the first period they were taught fundamentals of gum farming—how to secure naval stores such as turpentine and rosin from slash and long-leaf pines; how to identify the commercially valuable trees and their use; how to farm forests as they farm cotton and other crops; how to protect their woodlots from fire; how to thin their stands of trees by cutting out the crooked, diseased, and other

Now he has Governor Thurmond and his rebel southerners against him. But southern Democrats in house and senate have not been helpful to the Truman program. As a matter of fact they helped the Republicans override Mr. Truman's vetoes and some of them voted with the Republicans as often as with the Democratic minority. So the President stands to lose nothing there.

As we have pointed out in this column before, in the last half-century, except in 1916, when the Democratic party has won an election its electoral vote has been big enough to win without the Solid South. And when the Republicans have won, defection of the South would have made no difference.

On top of this, if the southern revolt holds out to election day it will be the first time Democrats in the South have had a choice between two candidates, and this reporter is not at all sure but that President Truman will capture a majority of these southern states despite the rebellious leaders.

Effective Control

Just by way of contrast, Canada has a peace-time price control law and an effective rent control law. So Canadian housewives pay only around 53 cents a pound for sirloin steak, 14 cents a quart for milk, 70 cents a pound for butter and 29 cents a pound for hamburger, or about 25 per cent less than American housewives pay. Canada has a gradual and planned policy of price adjustment and de-

Small Woodlots Hold Key To Future Timber Supply

By BAUKHAGE

News Analyst and Commentator.

WASHINGTON.—I have just had an interesting conversation with R. E. McArdle of the forest service of the department of agriculture, and I have discovered that I'm one of the people that the United States of America has to look to for its future lumber supply.

My father took up some of the last of the government forest land that was available in the Southwest. That little plot, along with the other privately-owned timberland straggling over the map of the U. S., makes up three-quarters of all the timber there is in the country. Only one-fourth of our forests are public property.

And three-fourths of this three-fourths is composed of small wood-

lots which average 60 to 70 acres. Furthermore much of it is not part of a farm being worked by an experienced farmer. A great deal is owned by people who don't live on the wood lot or near it (like me), and many of whom (also like me) wouldn't be able to tell a tooth-pick from a telephone pole if it weren't for their size.

Worse still, many farmers owning woodlots with valuable stands of timber on them don't know how to get their money's worth from that land or how to keep the wooded acres contributing to their livelihood as the rest of their farmland does. In other words, growing timber in this country has become to a large extent a side issue.

I am glad to report, after telling you all this bad news, that both the government and the lumber industry are trying to do something about this situation for the general, as well as for the individual, good.

For example, in 1937, the Crossett Lumber company gave the government 1,600 acres of typical second growth stands in southeastern Arkansas. I can't go into the program of experimental work that has been done there, but there is one item that affects our story.

THE IMPENDING BATTLE

The popcorn, peanuts and lemonade carnivals, called party conventions, have folded and the road companies now are assembling. It is Truman and Barkley in "A Trailer Named Desire" versus Dewey and Warren in "Make Mine Pennsylvania Avenue."

The critics hold that in order to win the Democrats will have to get Oscar Hammerstein to rewrite the script and add numbers by Berlin and Rogers.

They say the show should be called, "Life Without Father," or "Franklin in the Wings."

They contend that the Dewey production has everything Ringling Brothers have except the Night Before Christmas pageant and Gargantua, and that put up against the Democratic offering it is like "Ok-lahoma" versus the flea circus. But strange things happen in the world of politics and entertainment. The old saying, "Never count the gross receipts before you read the morning-after reviews," still is good advice.

Many a show has clicked despite bad preview notices and many an entertainment that was called sure fire on the road flopped in the ultimate test. The one big advantage the Dewey-Warren production has is that no show ever has run 16 years without boring the cash customers.

This department doesn't think the Democrats could win this time if they added the original cast of "Harvey," gave away free dishes and admitted women and children free. But there's no business as uncertain as show business except election business, and you never can tell.

Harry Truman emerged from the Democratic convention as the most dignified, gamest and most appealing figure, thanks to the quaint conduct of the opposition. He won sympathy just as a theater straw wins it when the rest of the cast tries to give him the works and even the stagehands drop sand bags from the flies. You can't dislike him any more than you could dislike Denham Thompson in "The Old Homestead."

He was called on four years ago to step into a leading part played to the hilt for 12 years by one of the greatest matinee idols, all around showmen and top scene-stealers of all time. Could Citation have succeeded the leading man in "Three Men on a Horse?" We ask you!

Harry was the pitcher called in when the bases were full, the fighter sent in for the emergency bout and the pianist called to substitute for the Toscanini orchestra. He never knew whether he was acting as a president or being used as a floating target.

And on top of all that, the law of averages, the turn of the wheel, the theory of cycles and the human desire for a change in billing all worked against him. Even people who had been for tarring and feathering all Republicans for years began wanting to trade in the old model for something new.

The Republicans, farther north for 16 years than Peary or Cook ever got, suddenly found the ice thawing on the wings. And now there is every indication that they can safely discard their snowsuits, throw away their pemmican supplies and reach for a White House instead of an

A New Jersey judge and bank vice president has been arrested charged with stealing $637,000 from the bank and throwing it into absorption by a stronger institution. He says it was nothing for him to lose $6,000 a week on the horses. We assume his hunch horses included Frisk, Cheek, Going Away, Me Always, The Pincher, Speedy Bozo, Fashion Plate and Easy Go. Obviously he was one of those bankers who worked like a horse.

Eighteen Deaths in State From Fire During June; Commissioner Urges Care

Eighteen Texans were burned to death in June, Marvin Hall, the state fire insurance commissioner, reported this week.

Ten of the 18 were men, five were children, and three were women.

Explosions and the resulting young man, 18, died of burns when fires, killed five persons, and one an oil tank he was working on exploded. One 31-year-old man died of burns received in a flash fire at an oil derrick.

Gas explosions in two homes resulted in the deaths of two women. One explosion was of butane and one of natural gas.

A young mother was burned to death when she poured kerosene into a wood stove. The kerosene ignited from live coals and an explosion covered her body with flames.

A hotel fire the cause of which is unknown caused the deaths of four men.

Fire caused from gasoline being accidentally ignited caused the deaths of three children during the month. The clothes of one little three-year-old girl ignited while she and her brother were playing with gasoline. A boy, seven, died of burns received when a glass jar containing gasoline exploded while a group of children were playing with it. A 17-month-old girl died of burns when her clothes caught fire from an exploding can of gasoline being used to burn out an ant bed.

Two small children died of scalds received when they pulled boiling coffee off stoves onto themselves.

Two young men burned to death when their airplane caught fire after failing to make a take-off, and a man, 67, burned to death in a house fire which started from careless smoking. Another man died of burns received on a fishing trip when his bedding ignited from a camp fire.

Hall urged greater care in dealing with fire, and suggested that parents keep explosive materials out of the reach of children.

Stamford Funeral Held for Father Of Dr. Don Gould

Final rites for Dr. Q. D. Gould of Stamford were conducted in the Stamford Central Christian Church Monday afternoon, with Rev. Clifford B. Thomas, pastor, and Rev. Ben Parker of San Antonio, a former pastor, in charge.

Dr. Gould, the father of Dr. Q. D. Gould of Hamlin, died in his home last Saturday.

Well known throughout Jones County as the operator of the Gould Chiropractic Clinic, Dr. Gould had been practicing his profession there for 28 years.

Born at Waxahatchie, February 22, 1883, he attended the Texas Chiropractic College and graduated there in 1922. He married Beulah Elliott, April 28, 1916.

In addition to his widow in Stamford and his son in Hamlin, Dr. Gould is survived by a daughter, Mrs. L. D. Lyle of Wichita Falls; his mother, Mrs. J. H. Gould of Mineral Wells; and seven sisters: Mrs. A. M. Adair of Breckenridge, Mrs. W. M. Adair of Italy, Mrs. W. H. Hughes and Ruby Gould of Mineral Wells; Mrs. L. S. Furr of Stamford; Mrs. W. J. Van Bibber of Ranger and Mrs. Oliver Grump of Corpus Christi.

Cotton Crop Estimate Is Up; Price to Hold

In spite of an estimated large 1948, officials of the United States increase in cotton production for Department of Agriculture expect the price to remain near the present high level, it was announced this week.

Favorable weather and increased acreage in the cotton belt have caused government crop statistics to revise their earlier estimates sharply upward.

However, it was pointed out because of world conditions and the drastic need for cotton, the price is expected to remain high during the season.

Farmers Urged to Get Legume Seed Before September

Farmers of west Jones County were urged this week to secure legume seed for fall planting as early as possible.

Hairy vetch seed is expected to be short this fall because of the extreme drought of last year, and this will probably result in higher prices, especially for those who wait until planting time to make their purchases.

Farm experts recommend that seed be bought early in order that farmers will have it on hand when the first good fall rains come in September.

Winter legumes, it was pointed out, will prevent wind erosion on sandy or mixed land subject to blowing. Hairy vetch or peas should be planted in the cotton rows not later than October. This need not interfere with the cotton yield if planted correctly.

Experiments have shown that a rotation of legumes, maize and cotton will pay dividends to farmers. It is recommended that super phosphate be applied to the soil at the time of planting hairy vetch.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Williams and sons, Donley and Jackie, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Williams and sons, Jerry and Larry, have returned from a trip through New Mexico, Colorado, Kansas and Oklahoma.

Texas Farm Income 1948 Shows Big Dip

Cash farm income from the sale of Texas farm products for the first six months of 1948 dropped more than $40,000,000 from the income for the first six months of 1947.

Figures on the income of farms were released this week by the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. The report revealed total cash income of $570,845,000 for the first half of 1947, and $530,182,000, for the first half of 1948.

What Will It Profit?

And if the meat strike proves effective, what then?

Reports from several of the meat markets in Hamlin have indicated that the strike is having little, if any, effect on sales of meat products here. However, if the meat boycott should result in the complete stoppage of all commerce in meats within our city, what effect would it have on the economy of our community as a whole? How would it affect the general price pattern of other commodities?

West Texas is a meat producing area. A large part of the economy of this entire district depends upon the price paid for livestock. And in recent months cattle raisers have received all-time record high prices for their cattle and hogs and sheep. Is it possible to create a lower price for processed meats without disturbing the record prices paid for meat animals on the hoof?

Then, too, not only have meat prices soared, but all other prices, including wages, have risen sharply during the scant three years since cessation of hostilities. If we organize an attack only upon meat prices, what of the inflated condition of the prices of numerous other commodities?

There can be no argument at all that meat prices are far too high. Nor can there be any argument that the danger point has long since been approached in our postwar inflation. There must be a stopping point somewhere if our democratic system of free enterprise is to survive.

But whether a "meat strike" is the proper approach to the vexing problem is the question—and a debatable one. If the stoppage of meat sales could bring lower prices without causing stockmen to take losses on cattle that have been raised on high priced feed, then by all means let's stop buying meat. But if this method will serve only to cause an economic injustice to the men who have helped to build our community, then perhaps some other plan needs to be tried.

However, regardless of the method used, some system must be worked out for an equitable adjustment of prices, and the zeal exhibited by the women who have inaugurated the present attempt is worthy of commendation. If at first they don't succeed, they'll try, try again.

But what will it profit our community if retail prices are forced down and livestock prices come tumbling after?

Advertising Hamlin

Excellent builders of good will for Hamlin, the Mighty Mice, teen-age softball players, are on their way to Houston where they will be pitted against teen-age players from other sections of the state for the Texas softball championship.

The program sponsored by the Hamlin Veterans of Foreign Wars, which produced this mighty aggregation of young sportsmen is a wholesome thing for Hamlin. It provided an outlet for the pent-up energies of teen-age boys during the dull summer months, and it developed them physically and socially. Most of the boys who have participated will learn better sportsmanship and consequently better citizenship.

And not only will the program prove beneficial to the young men who have taken part in its summer schedule, but the entire town will benefit by their prowess on the playing field.

The Mighty Mice are proving mighty emissaries of good will by carrying the name of Hamlin to all parts of Texas. More power to them.

Now Is The Time

No better time will ever present itself for residents of Hamlin to urge upon our congressman the need for a post office building here.

A town that has almost doubled in population in the past eight years should be entitled to better housing for its postal service, and a town of the size to which ours has grown certainly should be in line for this vastly needed improvement.

Now is the time to drop a letter to our representative in congress and ask him how about it. Perhaps in the rush of world-important political matters he has not given it much thought. A few letters would serve to remind him that in spite of Russia and the Iron Curtain we people in Hamlin are still doing business at the same old stand and we'd like a new one.

THE FICTION CORNER

AND AN ELEPHANT
By WILLIAM CUTHBERT

UH, UH, Daddy could see it coming again! He had just settled down to read the evening paper when Barbara climbed on one knee, and George Henry took possession of the other.

He let the newspaper drop to the floor. He couldn't read with a pair of heads in front of his eyes.

"How old am I, Daddy?" Barbara asked.

This was better than Daddy had hoped for. He was expecting something else. "You'll be three next month," he told her.

He thought that if he could a little child psychology he used to keep the children's thoughts on their ages and birthday parties, instead of having them think of that other thing. "You're five, George Henry," he said, "you'll soon be going to school."

George Henry said bluntly, "tell us a story."

Here it was, that other thing that he could see coming. "Not now," Daddy groaned, "I don't feel like telling a story."

"The three bears, heh, George Henry?" Barbara chimed in.

They settled back expectantly in Daddy's arms. Their flannel pajamas were soft and warm as his arms embraced them.

"Once upon a time there was three bears," Barbara prompted.

What could Daddy do? He shrugged his shoulders helplessly.

"The three bears lived in a cabin at the edge of a woods."

"No Goldilocks," George Henry said, "tell us about the three bears and an elephant."

"An elephant?" Daddy didn't feel like plotting a new story. "It will have to be Goldilocks," he said.

Barbara clapped her little chubby hands. "Goody," she cried, "what does the elephant do in the story, Daddy?"

"But I don't know any elephant story."

"Remember the one you read out of the book that you wrote?" This was George Henry trying to refresh his Daddy's memory.

Daddy tried to think over the juvenile stories that he had written and had published. He couldn't place an elephant story that had anything to do with three bears.

"No Daddy, it wasn't in the book," George Henry suddenly remembered, "you just told it to us."

The easiest thing to do, Daddy decided, was to make up a story, then rush the children off to bed.

"During the day," he continued, "the sun shone bright on the cabin and kept the three bears warm."

"What was the bears' names?" Barbara wanted to know.

There could be no question about the names. Whether it was bears, pigs, ducks or rabbits, the names had to be the same.

"One bear's name was Barbara, another George Henry, and the third, Sally."

Sally was the children's eight-year-old sister. She had just started to take violin lessons, and Daddy could hear her in her bedroom trying to squeak some notes out of the G string.

"As I was saying, the bears were kept warm in the daytime by the hot sun. But at night when the sun went to sleep, it got very cold, and the bears had to keep a fire in the hearth of the open fire place."

The telephone bell rang, and as the children's mother came from the kitchen to answer it, Daddy remained silent. This was a rule in the home. No one talked while someone else was speaking on the telephone.

The children hugged against Daddy. He thought they might go to sleep.

Their mother talked for several minutes. Daddy gathered from the things she said that she was giving Mrs. Piper, a neighbor who lived up the street, a recipe for cheese pie.

When his wife went back to the kitchen, Daddy looked at the children. Their eyes were closed. Ah, no more story telling tonight, he thought.

George Henry opened sleepy eyes. "So the three bears had to keep a fire at night—"

Daddy began to talk softly, soothingly. This would put the children sound to sleep. "The bears had to have wood for their fire, so every day they went into the woods to chop down a tree."

George Henry said bluntly, "tell us a story."

"Louder, Daddy," Barbara told him, "I can hardly hear you."

George Henry giggled a bit and asked, "Where's the elephant?"

"The elephant?" Daddy had forgotten there was supposed to be an elephant. "The elephant, uh, we'll get to him . . . the bears had to go to the woods for fire wood. One day Sally bear was chopping down a tree. It was a big tree, for most of the small trees had already been burned, and she became tired."

George Henry bear took the axe and began to chop—chop—chop.

"What about the elephant, Daddy?" It was Barbara this time.

"Suddenly the bears heard another sound in the woods. George Henry bear stopped chopping to listen. Thump—thump—thump! All three bears were startled. They never heard this noise before."

"What was the bears' names?" Barbara wanted to know.

There could be no question about the names. Whether it was bears, pigs, ducks or rabbits, the names had to be the same.

"One bear's name was Barbara, another George Henry, and the third, Sally."

The telephone bell rang, and as the children's mother came from the kitchen to answer it, Daddy remained silent. This was a rule in the home. No one talked while someone else was speaking on the telephone.

George Henry sat up straight, all sleep disappearing from his bright blue eyes. "Did the elephant chase them, Daddy?" he asked.

Daddy sighed deeply and said sternly, "Will you two settle down and allow me to tell the story?"

Meekly, George Henry settled back in Daddy's arm.

"That night it was very cold and the bears had no wood to burn. They huddled near the damp fire place and almost froze."

"The poor bears," Barbara mumbled.

bled. She looked like she might cry.

"The next day," Daddy said hurriedly, "the bears decided that they just had to have wood, so they went back among the trees. After they made sure that no other animal was in sight, Sally bear picked up the axe and began to chop—chop—chop."

"Please Daddy, tell us about the elephant," George Henry held his hand against his mouth to hold back a yawn.

"But before long, the thumping noise again rang out in the woods. Thump—thump—thump. The bears were too frightened to run this time, and suddenly a big animal stuck its head and long trunk between two trees and glanced bewildered at the three shivering bears."

Barbara clapped her hands. "The elephant!" she cried.

"Let it be a good elephant, heh Daddy?" George Henry said.

"All right, it was a good elephant, and it asked the bears why they were frightened? None of the bears dared to speak, so the elephant looked around and saw that they had been chopping at the tree."

George Henry said bluntly, "tell us a story."

"So the elephant chopped the tree down for them," George Henry volunteered.

Daddy smiled. This would be better than bringing in a lot of complications and would get the children to bed in a hurry.

"Yes, the elephant took the axe in his trunk and chopped the tree into small pieces. The bears then saw that the elephant was a friend, so each gathered an arm load of wood, while the elephant took a big load in his trunk, and they all went back to the cabin."

"Is that all, Daddy?" Barbara wanted to know.

"Not quite. The elephant was so big that it couldn't go through the door of the cabin, and when night came, it had to stay out in the cold, while the bears kept warm near the fire."

George Henry could hardly keep his eyes open but he said, "Let the good elephant go inside near the fire, Daddy."

Daddy thought for a moment. How could he get the elephant inside? Suddenly he knew how. "The following morning the bears were so sorry for the elephant that they got out all their carpenter tools and busily went to work."

"Did they build another cabin?" Barbara asked this although Daddy thought she was asleep.

"No, they just made a bigger doorway—and the three bears and the elephant lived happily together ever after."

Barbara and George Henry slept peacefully as Daddy carried them upstairs and put them in their beds.

Then Daddy went downstairs, picked up the newspaper and settled back in his chair. But he didn't read the newspaper. It dropped to the floor as he closed his eyes and went to sleep.

George Henry sat up straight, all sleep disappearing from his bright blue eyes. "Did the elephant chase them, Daddy?" he asked.

Daddy sighed deeply and said sternly, "Will you two settle down and allow me to tell the story?"

Meekly, George Henry settled back in Daddy's arm.

THE popularity of "Portia Faces Life" is a strong argument for the intelligence of American women. and tribulations of a scenario writer. This is in sharp and welcome contrast to the belief of another top-notch writer of daytime serials, who claims that the women who listen to such programs don't care about anything outside their own experience.

Paul Stewart, back in the cast of CBS' "Crime Photographer," after working in RKO's "Weep No More" with Joseph Cotton, says he's through with "stubble acting." Stewart, who needs a shave throughout the picture, says, "with a close shave or a full beard you can play practically any part, but if the script calls for you to have a stubble, you're a gangster."

The long-awaited Marx Brothers picture, "Blondes Up," is before the cameras at last, for United Artists release. Betty Hutton's sister, Marion, makes her debut as one of the blondes. The other two are Ilona Massey and Vera Ellen.

John Agar, since making his film debut in "Fort Apache," spends at least two evenings a week reading and rehearsing scenes from Broadway plays. They're mostly love scenes, as wife Shirley Temple rehearses with him.

George Montgomery, who has been winding up his starring role in Edward Small's "Indian Scout" for United Artists, plans to take off for Europe soon, with Dinah Shore Montgomery. It will be his first European visit.

Irene Rich, who returned to the screen in "Fort Apache" and "Joan of Arc," had fun in New York recently, seeing herself as she was in the old silent films. The picture she viewed was "Lucretia Lombard," made 26 years ago, starring her and featuring Norma Shearer and Monte Blue. Even now, with graying hair, Miss Rich is as beautiful as when she was a young and popular star.

Frank Sinatra and Romo Vincent have taken options on the old Fatty Arbuckle comedies and will re-film them independently with the 280-pound Vincent in the Arbuckle roles. They planned the venture when both were working on the MGM lot. Vincent's latest picture is "Luxury Liner," in which he is featured with George Brent, Jane Powell and Lauritz Melchior.

The little girl who won notice from the critics 14 years ago as "Asia" in "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" may win it again now that she is a grown-up, glamorous blonde in "My Dream Is Yours." She is Carmen Johnson.

Larry Robinson, "Brad" of "The Second Mrs. Burton," now has a head of flaming red hair—the result of a successful pre-Broadway road tour with "Life With Mother." He dyed his hair for the role of the eldest son.

Kathleen Norris Says:

Today Mothers Work for Luxuries

Bell Syndicate.—WNU Features.

When children get to the ages of 10 or 12, they are old enough to be of real household use.

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

A QUESTION I am asked often is whether it is a good idea for the woman of the family to hold a job. Arguments on this point have been going on for many years.

In the eyes of the last generation, it was generally considered unfortunate and inadvisable for Mother to be a breadwinner, while two generations ago, it was simply unthinkable. Only women unfortunate enough to be widowed, with young children to support, were supposed to engage in any gainful work, and this was usually teaching or taking boarders.

But times have changed. Our young married folk, our young parents are facing a different world from the world their fathers and mothers knew. Everything is different. The cost of living has increased not 10 nor 20 per cent but several times 100 per cent. Domestic service is commanding prices that would have seemed fantastic even a short while ago and that are prohibitive now.

The nervous pressure upon everyone, from Grandma down to the new baby, is terrific. We are hardly aware of what creates this intense strain, but we are all conscious of it.

All day long we are meeting hard conditions. Marketing is a shock. Keeping the children in orange juice, new shoes, carfare and luncheon milk provides a series of shocks. Taxation is one long jolt. The increase among our men of heart attacks, stomach ulcers, nerve ailments and breakdowns constitutes a mute testimonial to what they are enduring.

Escape From Reality. We escape from realities by a thousand devices. We read exciting crime books, listen to startling air programs, go to endless movies, spend money recklessly—why not? The old world has disintegrated before our eyes, the old ways are gone; we live for the moment.

And in this new civilization, burdened as it is with high expenses, high taxation and the steady demands of less fortunate folk, who so pitifully need food and clothing, it seems to me that the time has come for Mother to do her share in supporting the household.

Not in every case, of course. Not where children are small. Obviously there are many families where Mother must remain the cornerstone. But there are others where her sharing of the load would mean an immense relief to Dad and actually might prolong or save his life. Too much responsibility has killed many a man. The frightening thought that he must be responsible for every dollar of rent, every pair of shoes and every gas, grocery and clothing bill that comes into the household, that somehow doctors' and dentists' bills must be wrung out of that inflexible salary of his has crushed the spirit of the husband and father—and he has been unable to face it.

When children get to the ages of 10 or 12, they are old enough to be of real household use. They are old enough to learn the value of money. They can be trained to do much that will make the household run smoothly and such training always will be valuable to them. We don't ask half enough of our children and the result is that a half-grown girl will stand apathetically by while Mom dampens the laundry, puts away the groceries, brushes

... be must be responsible ...

JOB PROBLEM

American family life is geared to such a high degree that it requires a multitude of conveniences, gadgets and appliances to keep abreast of the traditionally American standard of living. In grandmother's day automobiles, radios, telephones and refrigerators were considered luxuries. Today they are necessities.

People constantly strive to better themselves. They look forward to the day when they can move from their four-room cottage into a spacious home with a natural fireplace, built-in garage and wide, sweeping lawns. By putting her shoulder to the wheel, a woman may make a wishful dream a reality.

In addition to helping achieve an otherwise unattainable goal, the woman who gets a job receives the inward satisfaction of knowing that she contributes materially.

up the lunch crumbs and wipes the glasses, meanwhile demanding insistently, "Mom, can Carol come to dinner?" Mom, can Carol come to dinner?"

Everybody Should Help. Two salaries in a family are better than one; three, when the 17-year-old girl or boy gets a Saturday job, are better than two. Everyone ought to save and eventually everyone ought to invest. To invest $3 to make $4 is the government's offer and I personally am glad of every $100 I put into Liberty bonds through the war years, because whatever other money does or doesn't do, that money is safe.

But property is a good investment, too. An empty lot, two plain garages on that lot, both rented, then a house started on that lot and presently a paid off mortgage on that house and the one next door—and there is a steady income, bringing a sense of security to the whole family.

It sounds dull, but it is on that foundation that most of the fortunes of America are built. Not the big sensational fortunes—the oil and railway and patent medicine fortunes that drag with them so ruinous a tax and such tremendous responsibilities—but all the happy lesser histories, just comfortable prosperity, just that little more than plenty that is the rule with millions of Americans. The extra car, the summer trip, the plain little country club with its swimming and tennis, the new playground built and the gift-circled Christmas tree—these are everyday miracles.

There are 43 million cars moving about in America. No other country in the world has half of that. There are telephones, electric and gas stoves, washers, furnaces, radios, theaters and schools in proportions that never have been equaled in the story of the world.

They all stand for progress, for comfort, for making things easy. But to hold them and a thousand other luxuries, Mother can't be a perfect lady, a clinging vine, a money-ignorant little spender any longer. Her job now may be to get a job.

Causes of Headaches.

Headaches are caused mostly by an allergic reaction of the mucous membranes of the nose, according to a study of 1,000 cases reported in the 1948 Britannica Year Book.

Other common causes, in the order of frequency, are inflammation of the muscles in the neck; mechanical nasal obstruction; inflammation of the sinuses and neuropsychiatric disorders. Headaches caused by muscle inflammations may continue long after the cause has been corrected.

Harsh Laxatives are NOT necessary for most people

The juice of a lemon in a glass of water, when taken first thing on arising, is all that most people need to insure prompt, normal elimination.

No more harsh laxatives that irritate the digestive tract and impair nutrition! Lemon in water is good for you!

Generations of Americans have taken lemons for health—and generations of doctors have recommended them. They are rich in vitamin C, supply valuable amounts of B<sub>1</sub> and P. They alkalize, aid digestion.

Not too sharp or sour, lemon in water has a refreshing tang—clears the mouth, wakes you up. It's not a purgative—simply helps your system regulate itself. Try it 10 days. USE CALIFORNIA SUNKIST LEMONS

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength.

Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

Tulip Bulbs

Grace Noll Crowell

HANDLE them carefully, gardeners! these brown husks Have baked their fires, but any moment may Burst into flame. They hold the dawns and dusks And the gold noons of every gorgeous day; They are heavy with age, yet youth will rend them apart, And color will tear its bright way through their heart.

A breathless interim they now are filled, But, gardeners, you are dealing with mystery; These globes enclose magic and are filled With the wonder of things that were and that are to be.

Slip them quickly under the broken sod, Left you, too soon, come face to face with God.

New Insecticides to Save Considerable Grain Damage

A new and safe insecticide material, which itself can save more grain from damage by insects than that needed for the relief of Europe, now is in production, and insecticides made from it are being made available to the consumer in quantity, says Glenn Haskell, president of U. S. Industrial Chemicals.

The new insecticide, which can be used with complete freedom where food is handled, is known as pyrene. After three years of exhaustive tests, it has been found effective against a broad range of insect life.

The new insecticide is versatile in its application, and can be used in oil sprays, aerosols, emulsions, dusts or wettable powders. Its non-toxic nature makes it safe for use under any circumstances, Haskell says.

It can be sprayed on the interiors of grain bins, where insects have been taking an annual toll of 300 million bushels of grain in the United States alone, or three times the 100 million bushels needed for the relief of Europe. It can be used safely on growing foods, feeds of animals or anywhere that food is processed or prepared for human consumption. It has complete safety in household or garden use, and can be used directly on animals, without damaging effect to animals or to meat and dairy products

Storage Chest Solves Extra Space Problem

IF YOU have a problem storing extra bed linen, out-of-season clothing, or just about one hundred other articles everyone collects and doesn't know where to put, this under-the-bed storage chest should be of interest to you. While the pattern offered suggests building a chest approximately 30" wide, 42" long by 6" deep, it can be built to any length required.

One of the big features of this chest, beside ample storage facilities, is its utilization of unused space. Being suspended between large wooden wheels the chest can be rolled under the bed, even over rugs with very little effort.

Anyone can build this chest by following the full size pattern now available. It tells what materials are needed, shows location of bolt and screw holes and provides the simplest method of building. All the materials needed are now available at lumber yards everywhere.

If you live in an apartment and hesitate to make this chest for fear of disturbing the neighbors, the chest can be built without driving a nail. A glue is now available that binds two pieces of wood together so thoroughly that the wood will break before the joint can be loosened.

A tip to those who plan on attending a wedding real soon—this chest makes an ideal wedding gift for the lucky bride and groom. Send 25c for Pattern No. 37 to East-Bld Pattern Company, Dept. W, Pleasantville, New York.

Sisters Meet For First Time

A London airport was the scene of the meeting of two sisters who had never seen each other before, although both were over thirty years old. When Miss June Morgan, 31, stepped down from the plane arriving from the United States she was greeted by her sister Violet, 34, now Mrs. Clifford Evans of Reading, England, who had been left in Great Britain as a child when her parents went to America, where June was born three years later. Each sister had photographs of the other and they had no difficulty in recognizing each other at the crowded airport.

To keep sandwiches fresh, wrap them in waxed paper; but before you fold the paper over, run a warm iron along the double edges. The wax will melt and the edges will fuse.

To scrape the bottom of a pot, use a wooden spoon or the sharp end of a wooden clothespin. This minimizes noise as well as damage to the pot.

Be sure the cloth or potholder you use to handle hot pots and pans is dry. If it's wet, the moisture will form steam and burn your hand.

If your scouring powder comes in cardboard containers which go to pieces before the powder is used up, make your own permanent container by using an empty mayonnaise jar in the top of which you have punched holes. To keep this glass "powder shaker" from slipping out of your wet soapy hands, put some strips of adhesive tape around the sides of the jar.

Most common types of shoe polish can be removed with cleaning fluid. Or, on washable whites, let the polish dry and then brush most of it off. After that, wet it and let it dry again so you can brush it again.

In an emergency, when you haven't time to change from your best shoes to your house ones for some last-minute cooking or dish washing, protect the shoes by slipping paper bags over your feet and secure them at the ankles with rubber bands.

To avoid steaming up the bathroom when you draw your bath, run cold water first and then add hot water to it until you get the desired mixture. After a shower, turn on the cold water for a few minutes to clear up the steam.

When you empty a hot-water bottle, blow air into it and then screw the stopper in.

When raisins get stale and hard, they can be freshened and used if you put them in a strainer and set the strainer with a cover on it over a pot of boiling water for about 15 minutes.

The gummy residue left by adhesive tape on your skin or on any other surface is easily removed with nail polish remover or cleaning fluid.

When an uncolored photograph (not glossy) needs cleaning, wipe it with a damp cloth; then place it face down on a smooth dry cloth until it's dry.

Survey Reveals Under-Age Children Are Employed in Many Texas Plants

Employment of under-age minors, with its attending dangers and perils, is still prevalent in North Texas, according to Lawson A. Wood, who represents the Wage & Hour and Public Contracts division, United States Department of Labor, in this section of the state.

Wood said the fiscal year report shows violations of the child labor sections of the Fair Labor Standards act (federal wage and hour law) and the Walsh-Healey (public contracts) act were uncovered in more than four per cent of the plants inspected in this state during the year ending July 1.

"A total of 1,204 covered establishments were inspected in all parts of Texas during that period, and child labor violations were found in 51," he said.

"The wage and hour law prohibits the employment of children under 16 years old in manufacturing or processing occupations, or in workrooms where manufacturing or processing is being carried on. It also bans employment of under 16 or a girl under 18 years of age in hazardous occupations or hazardous work."

Healey act, which applies to firms supplying goods or materials to the government on contracts exceeding $10,000, prohibits a boy under 16 or a girl under 18 years old from working on such contracts.

"Department reports show many children have been injured, permanently crippled or killed working around machinery or in rooms where machinery is being operated. Among the occupations held to be hazardous for children under 18 years old are: driver or helper on motor vehicles, logging and sawmilling, coal mining, operating of power-driven woodworking machinery and operating power-driven hoisting apparatus, including elevators."

Six Million Receive Social Security Aid

More than 6,000,000 Americans are receiving payments under some of the provisions of the Social Security Act, it was announced this week by Ralph T. Fisher, manager for this area.

The Social Security Act became a law 13 years ago, on August 10, 1935.

The law was designed to provide financial security to wage earners throughout the nation. It was amended in 1939 and again in 1946 the social security act still retains the basic provisions of the original law.

The act consists of four main features: 1.—A federal system of retirement and survivors' insurance for workers and their families, based on employer-employee contributions; 2.—A federal-state plan for payments to the needy aged, needy blind, and dependent children; 3.—A federal-state plan providing for payment of unemployment benefits to unemployed workers; 4.—Federal aid to states maternal and child health.

FIRST AID to the AILING HOUSE

by Roger C. Whitman

QUESTION: Our gas refrigerator has taken on a yellowish color. How can I restore it to its former whiteness?

ANSWER: Try washing the surface with mild soap and warm water. Rinse with a solution of javelle water, using about three teaspoonsful in a quart of water, and wipe dry.

QUESTION: What should I do about curled shingles on my house?

ANSWER: Sometimes a curled shingle can be split in two or three pieces and then well nailed. If only a few of your shingles are curled, replace them with shingles of a better quality.

QUESTION: What can I do about hot water pipes that constantly cause the paint to peel off? I wish to repaint several rooms and would like this information.

ANSWER: You could use a radiator enamel, following the manufacturer's directions for application. But you should make some allowance for a slight darkening of the color under heat and choose a shade a little lighter than you otherwise would select. The pipes must be clean and cold for a good paint job and for thorough drying.

Andrew, The Man Who Brought Others

Lesson for August 15, 1948

MEET Andrew, brother of Simon Peter, fisherman of Galilee. Follow his career and you will account him one of the truly great men of the ages, chiefly because he was ever alert to help men on to God. He was always introducing his friends to Jesus.

There are many passages of scripture cited for this study, with the devotional reading in Luke and the Golden Text from John 1:40: "He brought him to Jesus."

WHAT ANDREW TOLD HIS FRIENDS

WHEN Andrew met Jesus, and discovered in him the Saviour of men, he went and found his brother, Simon, and said unto him, "We have found the Messiah, which is, being interpreted, the Christ," John 1:41.

What do we tell our friends? Do we not delight to tell our friends what we have found to be good? This was the mission of Andrew—telling his friends about Jesus, for he had found in Jesus that which was good. John the Baptist had told Andrew about Jesus, and he was determined that he would tell everyone who would listen this good news.

HOW ANDREW KNEW ABOUT JESUS

ANDREW got his impressions of Jesus firsthand. When he heard John the Baptist say, "Behold the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world," he went on to inquire about Jesus, and Jesus bade him and John spend the day with Him. They did, from 10 o'clock in the morning until late afternoon. That was enough. Andrew knew from that day about Jesus. He was now ready to tell others what he knew about Jesus.

Do we know Jesus well enough to tell others about him? If a fisherman could tell the story effectively, cannot everyone? But let us remember this, no man can introduce his friend to Jesus until he himself knows Jesus.

THE MAN WHO BROUGHT OTHERS

LET'S look for a moment at some of the people Andrew brought to Jesus. We begin, of course, with Simon, his brother. Here, I think, is the highest test of his ability to tell others about Jesus—bringing his own brother. It is often easier to tell strangers about Jesus than those of our own family.

And now we see Andrew yonder in the multitude, finding the lad with the leaves and fishes, and bringing him to Jesus. That is the test of seeing the right person at the right time. And again this is the acid test of introducing people to Jesus.

Again, we see Andrew sensing the fact that some young Greeks had come a long way to see Jesus. He knew how to help them. In this incident we see the final example of winning people to Jesus—cultured Greeks, who were familiar, we may assume, with the current thought of the world. But this simple fisherman of Galilee knew how to approach them, how to gain their attention, how to bring them to Jesus.

THEY WAIT FOR THE ANDREWS TODAY

THE world waits for some Andrew today. I fully believe that most people could be won to Christ if only there were enough Andrews. Rarely have I had a person to repel me when I faithfully followed the leading of the Holy Spirit to speak to such person about Jesus.

Andrew did not rely upon his own resources. He went in the might of the Lord. He knew what Jesus had done for him. He yearned to see all men enjoy their blessing. He was a simple messenger—a voice.

And God gave him words—words that fell like good seed into fertile soil. So may we today introduce our friends to Jesus. Only let us remember this—we must first know him!

Philosophy

A little philosophy inclineth man's mind to atheism, but depth in philosophy bringeth man's mind about to religion.—Bacon.

Try to do to others as you would have them do to you, and do not be discouraged if they fail sometimes.—Dickens.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS by Lynn Chambers

These Foods Make a Picnic (See recipes below)

Picnic Foods

WE ALL AGREE that picnics are fun, but how's the food holding out, now that you've already had some picnics during the summer? Is the variety still there to tempt jaded appetites or are you ready for some quick and easy ideas full of inspiration?

You'll want to keep anything edible simple and easy to prepare as well as easy to carry because it's no fun to get worn out in the process of packing, and there is also nothing worse than arriving with soggy sandwiches as well as bruised fruit or muddled cake.

Everyone will feel better at picnics if you plan well balanced meals, so have your share of starches, vitamins and minerals.

Sandwiches are a standby, but they can have infinite variety. Add some crisp vegetables to the filling when you can, thus making the texture interesting and more delicious.

Plan to use fruit in season, carefully washed and wrapped, of course, so you can enjoy eating it. Cakes should be simple, and are best made in square or oblong pans, tucked in a box and cut when served. No chance for messing when it's done this way!

HERE ARE SOME delightful fillings for sandwiches which I know will be a hit with the folks. Chill the fillings, and they won't soak through the bread.

*Savory Ham-Vegetable Filling (Makes 8 sandwiches)

- 16 slices bread
- 1/2 cup softened butter
- 1 cup deviled ham
- 1 cup grated raw carrot
- 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise

Spread sliced bread and butter. On eight slices spread deviled ham. Combine green pepper, carrot, salt and mayonnaise. Spread carrot mixture on ham and place buttered slices of bread on top. Cut as desired and wrap well.

*Egg Salad Sandwiches (Makes 8)

- 4 chopped hard-cooked eggs
- 1 cup minced celery
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup minced stuffed olives
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise

Mix all ingredients together in order given. Spread filling on cracked wheat bread which has been buttered.

Shrimp Sandwiches (Makes 8)

- 1/2 cup canned and cleaned shrimp, crabmeat or lobster
- 4 tablespoons butter or substitute
- 1/2 teaspoon minced onion
- 1 teaspoon lemon juice
- 1/2 teaspoon mustard
- 2 tablespoons minced stuffed olives

White or whole wheat bread. Mince the shrimp and mix with the remaining ingredients. Chill thoroughly before spreading on bread.

*Chicken-Ham Sandwiches (Makes 6)

- 1/2 cup ground, cooked chicken
- 1/2 cup ground, cooked ham
- 3 chopped, stuffed olives
- 1 1/2 tablespoons mayonnaise
- 1/2 teaspoon lemon juice

Chicken salad takes on an elegant air when it's served in canned peach halves. Sprinkle with toasted, slivered almonds.

LYNN SAYS:

Do Something Special With Your Salads

Scoop out fresh and nicely firm cucumbers. Flake a can of salmon, season it with lemon juice and mayonnaise and fill the hollowed cucumbers. With this pass some crackers and cheese and luncheon is served.

LYNN CHAMBERS' MENU

- *Ham and Vegetable Sandwiches
- *Egg Salad Sandwiches
- *Chicken-Ham Sandwiches
- *Deviled Eggs Whole Tomatoes
- Potato Chips
- Grapes or Watermelon
- *Mincemeat Goodies
- Lemonade or Milk
- *Recipes Given.

Combine and spread on white bread.

DEVELOPED EGGS are handy to have on a picnic to eat either with the sandwiches, by themselves or with tomatoes or other relishes.

Here's a tasty way in which you may prepare them without too much work.

*Deviled Eggs.

- 8 hard-cooked eggs
- 4 tablespoons softened butter
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
- Dash of pepper
- 1 teaspoon vinegar
- Mayonnaise

Cut eggs in half lengthwise and remove yolks. Mash yolks and combine with butter, salt, mustard, pepper and vinegar. Add mayonnaise to make a creamy consistency.

Refill egg white and sprinkle with paprika. Chill.

HERE ARE SEASONAL fruits

suitable to take on a picnic: Apricots, plums, nectarines, peaches, berries, cantaloupes and watermelon. Oranges, apples and bananas are also good standbys.

Grapes and cherries are delightful. Berries and peaches may be washed, sugared and placed in mason jars with tight covers.

If you are taking melon, it's best to chill it thoroughly, wrap in waxed paper, and cut and scoop out the seeds just before you serve it.

IF YOU LIKE easy-to-carry cookies to take along with you, serve them with the fruit or as snacks between meals if you are making the picnic a whole day affair.

*Mincemeat Goodies (Makes 4 dozen)

- 1 cup shortening
- 2 cups sugar
- 3 eggs, beaten
- 3 cups sifted flour
- 1 cup mincemeat
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon ginger
- 1 teaspoon cloves
- 1 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts

Cream shortening and sugar together until fluffy. Add eggs and flour enough to prevent mixture from curdling. Add mincemeat and dry ingredients, sifted together, and the nuts. The amount of flour varies with the amount of liquid in the mincemeat. The mixture should be stiff enough to drop from spoon onto a greased cookie sheet. Bake in a moderate (375 degree) oven about 10 minutes.

Released by WNU Features.

Melons have an affinity for lime seasoning. Marinate wedges or balls of melon in the juice before serving them on crisp lettuce leaves.

Have you ever served a shrimp salad in cucumber cups? Or try the salad in green pepper rings, garnished with wedges of red, ripe, well chilled tomatoes and deviled eggs.

Pimiento cups are a nice innovation for salads. Try filling them with an egg and celery salad.

Portlight by GRANTLAND RICE

SOME time back we were discussing the affairs of baseball's state with Connie Mack. The part that luck plays came up for some chatter.

"In my opinion luck plays a small part, a very small part," Mack said, "with 134 games to play. There is only one spot that luck can figure rather heavily. This could be in some injury or illness striking at a key player, one who can't be replaced. This is about the worst luck you can get," he said.

MACK

So the Braves can be charged with the worst luck of the season in losing Eddie Stanky for practically the rest of the season. For despite what Branch Rickey and Leo Durocher thought about it, Stanky has been the most valuable, the most useful second baseman in the National League.

His absence from Brooklyn has accounted in large part for most of the Dodgers' doldrums earlier in the race. It has accounted for a loss of 100,000 in attendance, due to so many games lost that Stanky's presence could have won.

When the Stanky blow fell, Billy Southworth had just organized his cast into the most formidable team in the league. It had good catching and certainly one of the soundest pitching staffs in Johnny Sain, Warren Spahn, Bill Voiselle and Vernon Bickford.

Braves Had Hitters

The Braves had a good hitting outfield on hand. But above all in Stanky and Alvin Dark, the Braves had the strongest second-base combination in the circuit. And it might be added that Stanky was largely responsible for young Dark's fine play and his marked improvement.

On the day Stanky was hurt, both he and Dark were hitting .320. Both were among the first five among the league's best hitters. As a defensive combination they had no superior pair to face. Just how Stanky's substitute will work out has yet to be shown over a long stretch.

This could easily be the wrecking ball that Mack was talking about. The Braves may win the pennant without Stanky. With the pepper box around they were the best team in their league, the team one had to pick as the probable pennant winner. You know what would happen to the Cardinals if they lost Stan Musial or where the Indians would be without Lou Boudreau.

Athletics Have Pitchers

The fact that a majority of the experts, prophets, and soothsayers still are waiting for the Athletics to crack hasn't annoyed Mack too greatly. Still he hasn't liked it too much. The records show that he has the soundest and most consistent pitching staff in the league.

"And the facts show," Mack tells you, "that we have just about as good a ball club as the Yankees, Indians or Red Sox in other departments. It isn't as fast as it might be but it can hit and field and I certainly know of no other club that has more spirit. No club that has been up around the front for three playing months can be considered any morning glory."

If Phil Marchildon were in his 1947 shape, we'd have a nice lead already set aside with better prospects on ahead."

Whatever happens, 1948 can be set down as one of Mack's bigger years. The veteran won his first American league pennant 46 years ago in 1902. He won again in 1905, 1910, 1911, 1913, 1914, 1929, 1930 and 1931. So it has been a matter of 17 years since the tall, thin old-timer has won a flag and he feels that he could make good use of his 10th pennant before retiring from the busy scene.

He had no idea this spring that he could do as well as he has to date. I feel pretty sure that back in early April, Mack gladly would have settled for a spot at the bottom of the first division.

Favorites Fade Out

At that time about all you could hear were the Yankees and the Red Sox. The Tigers and the Indians drew the next rounds of applause. What everyone overlooked was the value of six or seven good, consistent pitchers in a season where good pitching was extremely scarce. When such ball players as Eddie Joost and Hank Majeskie began acting like stars, the Athletics began showing dust to both Yankees and Red Sox.

They gave pretty fair proof of their intentions by opening the season in Boston and wallowing the astonished Red Sox three times running. Shortly after they moved up with the Cleveland Indians and began feeding Athletic dust to the rest of the league.

Bow Hunting for Deer

At the end of the last fall season, the total number of arrow-killed deer during the 13 years of legalized bow hunting in Wisconsin was less than 1,000, considerably less than the salvaged illegal gun kill during the 1947 big game season. Today bowmen do not bag 1 per cent of the legal annual kill. More deer have been killed by automobiles than by bow hunters.

POT-SHOTS FROM McCAULLEY

GEORGE DARDEN

Miss Kate Rainey, Midland, has sent $5 for the McCauley Cemetery Fund.

L. H. Boyd, Henry Cook, F. L. Rector, A. J. Cook and Luther Maberry returned last Thursday from a week's fishing trip in New Mexico. The McCauley reporter saw a 27 pound catfish that the boys brought back and of course there was one larger that got away.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Maberry left for Dallas last Sunday to return their daughters, who have been visiting in Dallas for two weeks.

Visiting friends in this community last week end were Mr. and Mrs. Charley Elvins and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Elvins and children, also of Fort Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Fancher from away out on the Texas Plains are visiting relatives in this community. Mrs. Della Fancher returned with them after a several weeks' visit on the Plains and at Post.

The feed crop in this vicinity that looked so promising two weeks ago is twisting and burning till it's pitiful. Cotton is still doing good with little or no insects.

The Baptist meeting will continue through this week and will close Sunday night after two weeks of night services.

A new editor on The Herald and we liked the job in last week's issue. Let's make an outstanding weekly and by so doing will contribute to the growth of this and other communities.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace McCain from Greenville are visiting in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Davidson.

Mr. and Mrs. Turner Houghton and daughter were Sunday visitors in the home of his parents. Also visiting their parents were Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Houghton and sons from Hamlin.

Drilling for oil will begin this week on the Nickless farm two miles west of McCauley. The Humble Company has the lease.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Carrol and family will move this week to the Drennon farm east of town. The Carrols have been living in Sylvestor. He is manager of the McCauley Supply Company.

Ann and Vera Cozart visited with relatives in Abilene last week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Kean and daughter, Jean, have returned home from a visit with her father in Pittsburg, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Kaen from California are visiting in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Kean, of McCauley.

Eight years ago this summer the McCauley Pot-Shots appeared on the back page of The Hamlin Herald for the first time. Bowen Pope the owner, editor and publisher at that time encouraged the one horse town writer and published our "lingo" as written, even though at times a shade "crude" and many times Bowen did not agree with our comments yet he believed in every man having the right to his own opinion therefore he used up a little more printers ink and published our stuff. Through the years we have received letters from all parts of the world from readers of this column complimenting our news and frank remarks, for all of which we are very grateful, and so long as we use the "hunt and peck" system and so long as the editor continues the use of printers ink on said column the readers of Pot-Shots can expect most anything. The news from the "grapevine" often published in this column is just one of our short comings—but we gotta' note that folks like a little gossip even in a newspaper. If we fail to see you then mail us your local news items and watch the Pot-Shots for news of the old home town.—Yours, George.

A story of long ago where a man sold his birthright for a mess of pottage. There seems to be a few folks now days who would sell their birth right for a government job and a chance to eat out of the public trough.

Our good friend Jess Green who lives down in the Lawlis flat comes by the feed store every week and he and the scribe naturally talk a little politics, and the funny part of it is that we agree on most candidates and see eye to eye on the senatorial race.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Dick Jr., from Crosbytown visited parents in McCauley last week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Miller left Sunday for Huntsville on business.

A clipping from a San Antonio daily says: Miss Jammie Nickless is visiting in Honolulu having flown there from her home in Alamo

City and on her return will enter a medical school in Galveston. Miss Nickless was reared in McCauley and her parents were formerly in the drug business here.

Farmers will start combining grain this week in this community and some early maize is making at around 1200 pounds per acre we understand.

Comment No. 1—The political polls such as the Belden and Gallup polls should be withheld from the press. Such polls often cause voters to vote for the leading candidate for fear of losing their vote. In our opinion such polls are unfair to the candidates who do not have the money to spend on the radio and other advertising. It's not always the case that the men elected are the better qualified. Many candidates "bite the dust" for lack of publicity and yet in many cases the losing candidate is better qualified.

Mr. and Mrs. Ned White and two children have moved to Hamlin from Stamford. They will make their home here. Mr. White is employed at the gravel pits.

Mr. and Mrs. Ancie Gray Griffin of Oakland, Calif., are guests this week of Griffin's mother, Mrs. Doc Griffin in Hamlin.

Forest Lee and Phil Reynolds of Fort Worth have been guests in the home of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Carlton, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Carlton, Sr., have returned from Bridgeport where they attended a family reunion. One hundred persons were present for the gathering.

Mrs. A. D. Ensey and daughter, Monnie Ann, of Odessa, are visiting Mrs. Ensey's mother, Mrs. B. S. Ferguson.
